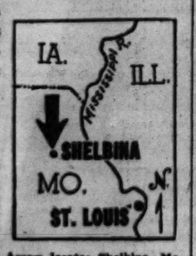
Sees the Volunteer Hero as Fool.

Marcia Winn, Tribune reporter who recently wrote a series of articles on the war hysteria in Washington and New York, has seen and talked to middle west farmers and their wives on the same subject. Her second story follows:

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shelbina, Mo., Aug. 24.—Elmer Magruder, a Missourian who talks so fast in his rôle as county auctioneer that he often finds he has sold himself something he does not want, stood in the doorway of his rambling barn near here. He and Jim, his Negro helper, were waiting for a load of 28 Hampshire sheep Elmer had just bought.



Arrow locates Shelbina, Mo.

As usual, he had paid his own price for them. He offered $6.50 apiece but the owner demurred. So Elmer bought twenty at $8 apiece and eight at $3 apiece. "Averaged almost the same," Elmer said in laconic pride, "but he never knew it."

For years Elmer, generally known as Colonel Magruder for no reason other than deference, has been the auctioneer of Shelby county, Mo. He presides at all sales, forced or desired, and the county saying is that if Elmer can't sell it, you might as well burn it.

Not Excited by the War.

Elmer is a tall, heavy set man of around 51 with gray hair, gray eyes, and an open, wind-browned countenance. He farms 400 acres and like the average farmer here is genial, kindly, and chivalrous. Right now he is as unexcited about the war as the sheep on his farms, but it frets his mind.

"Looks like a pore shape for a civilized country to be in," he observed. "Just stompin' all over each other.

"Last year we canceled Finland's debt and sent their money back. This year we give money to England to finish off Finland. Can't understand it. I got enough to do with the hoss, cow and mule business.

"Now my idea of this war was just to prepare to the rim. I don't think England ever favored this country. She wouldn't help us if she could.

Churchill "Cuff Tradin'."

"I think old Churchill is just makin' a goat out of us. Cuff tradin'. You know we could do a lot of that cuff business right here, but there's be a lot of afterclap.

"Now that Hitler—I'd ruther have him like me than dislike me the way he handles the public. I couldn't like him, but I'd ruther everybody else knew it but him. That's the way I feel.

"But I never did think he was

RED HECKLERS CUT IN ON NAZI BROADCASTS TO CALL NEWS 'LIES'

BERLIN, Aug. 24—The German radio tonight bitterly attacked soviet Russia for jamming its German language news transmissions by filling in pauses between news items with iaconic heckling on the same wavelengths, and promised "fitting counter-measures."

"Jamming," which, in its present form represents a new idea in radio warfare, has been noticed by German listeners in Berlin for the last two weeks. At first only inarticulate noises could be heard each time the German speakers stopped for breath between items or sentences. Last night, however, for the first time listeners were able clearly to understand the words of the enemy speakers who, following news items would state "A fairy tale" or "Do you expect people to believe that."

At the end of the news broadcast last night when the German announcer had said, "This is the end of the news," the enemy speaker quickly added, "But tomorrow the lies will continue."

LLOYD'S REFUSES MORE HONOLULU BOMB INSURANCE

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 24 (AP).—Lloyd's of London has discontinued writing bombing insurance for this outpost of the United States' Pacific defenses. W. B. Brandt of San Francisco, Cal., Lloyd's Pacific coast representative, said insurance was being refused "not because of fear of war but because of possible sabotage." Rates on bomb insurance here have risen from 10 to 50 cents for $100 protection. Policies aggregate more than $10,000,000, Brandt said.

RECRUITING AGENT FOR HITLER

Give Roosevelt Greater Power, Barkley Urges

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 24 [Special].—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, spokesman for the administration, declared here today that the American people must surrender more of their liberties and that President Roosevelt must be given still greater dictatorial powers to help destroy dictatorship abroad.

Barkley spoke at exercises outside Independence hall which marked the opening of the annual national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Kentucky senator contended that this country is "in the midst of war because it cannot escape its consequences." Therefore, he asserted, we are "compelled to confer unprecedented authority and power upon the head of our government."

Need to Be Convinced.

After describing the present crisis as the gravest this nation has faced since the Revolutionary war, Senator Barkley said that the citizens will "know how to make sacrifices when they are convinced of the necessity."

Barkley admitted that the American people abhor war. However, he said, "If as a last resort, the American people are compelled to fight to defend their country they will not prove less responsive to this call than they have proven in the past."

Barkley said that there is no assurance that the "conflagration burning eleswhere will not scorch our own shores and institutions." He argued that the American continent will become the immediate objective of aggressor nations if Adolf Hitler wins.

A Jibe at America First.

Barkley, who was the central figure in the WPA vote coercion scandals in Kentucky in 1938, departed from the prepared text of his address to deliver a jibe at the non-interventionist America First Committee. After referring to Germany's absorption of Austria, he said:

"We have an organization in America known as America First. They're too late. America cannot be first—Austria was first."

Lilies in Their Prime; See Them, Chicagoans Urged

Thousands of giant tropical and hardy water lilies are in their prime in park district pools this week, and Chicagoans should see them, William C. Blaesing suggested yesterday. He is acting chief horticulturist for the parks. Among the lilies are the new Jane Addams and Lillian Gish types, nearly a foot in diameter.

GOLF A DIFFICULT GAME? SHUCKS, NO! BLIND MEN PLAY IT

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 24 [Special].—Two blind men played over the 6,718 yard course of the Northland Golf club today to settle the world's blind golf championship. They were Clint Russell, Duluth business man, the defending champion, and Marvin Shannon, a lawyer of Fort Worth, Tex.

A high wind which cut down long drives handicapped the contestants, yet each scored accurate drives and sank long puts that brought cheers from a large gallery. Both scored several 3s and 4s for pars. Neither required more than 9 for any hole. Russell won the match 2 up, retaining his championship. His total score was 112 against Shannon's 115.

The eyes of the blind men were their professionals. The pros described the lie of the ball, and the distance and height of the shot required. The player selected his own club, and the professional placed the clubhead in the proper direction. Actual driving, chipping, putting and the like were up to the blind golfer.

Mexican Is Horseshoe Champ.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 24 (AP).—Fernando Isais of Mexico City, Mexico, won the 1941 world horseshoe pitching championship here today by rallying to defeat the defending champion, Ted Allen of Boulder, Colo. Isais turned in 23 consecutive victories in the three day tournament, averaging 82.9 per cent of ringers. In today's feature Allen dropped his match to Isais by a 50 to 46 score to finish second with 21 victories and two losses. Casey Jones, Waukesha, Wis., was third with 20 victories and three defeats.

SENTRY ADMITS HELPING 2 FLEE FORT SHERIDAN

Private Louis Summers sat in the Fort Sheridan guardhouse yesterday, the victim of two soldiers' perfidy and his own thirst. He admitted that the "escape" of two military prisoners he was guarding Saturday was a part of a plan to visit a tavern, However, the two prisoners refused to return to the fort when they had promised they would, Summers said.

One of the prisoners, Harry R. Pearson, 20 years old, was returned to the fort yesterday by his father, Loren Pearson, 10130 Normal avenue. He implicated Summers. The other prisoner who escaped was Ted Wegeman, 25, said to be the originator of the plot. He is still a fugitive. Wegeman and Pearson were awaiting trial on charges of desertion.

Summers first said the two prisoners had forced him to leave the fort with them at the point of a gun.

AAA Demands Congress Sift Gas Situation

New York, Aug. 24 [Special.—The American Automobile association today asked congress to investigate the gasoline situation in the east and to set up machinery for "an orderly handling and apportionment of available motor fuel for the rights of all users." The suggestion was made with the reservation, "if federal control is deemed necessary."

Harold L. Ickes, the administration's petroleum dictator, recently placed eastern motorists under a rationing system. He also ordered a 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. curfew for gasoline stations to reduce motor fuel sales.

Thomas P. Henry, president of the AAA, said that reports from every section of the affected area "indicate that the public mind is utterly confused and bewildered by the maze of conflicting statements forthcoming from day to day."

Urges End of "Humbuggery."

"Make public the facts," he urged, "and end the humbuggery.

"The people have been told so many different things by so many different groups that they do not know what to believe or how seriously to take this situation. They have been told that it is nothing more than an attempt to make the country war-conscious.

"They have been told by the railroads that there are over 17,000 tank cars available to move gasoline, while Acting Petroleum Coördinator Davies [Ralph Davies, acting under orders from Secretary Harold Ickes] claims that 'efforts of his office and those of the industry to press these cars into service have been unavailing.'"

Normal Sales the Rule.

No appreciable change in Sunday motor traffic volume was reported, and the policy of most station operators, up to the 7 p. m. curfew hour, was to serve their customers without quibbling about prospective scarcity of motor fuel.

Nazi Captives in Australia; Sea Raider 'Rescue' Fails

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 25 [Monday] (AP).—German parachutists, pilots, and motorized troops captured in Greece and Libya arrived here safely over the week-end with some show of disappointment because they were not rescued en route to prison, as they had hoped, by a German sea raider.

PLEDGES BRITAIN TO AID U. S. IN EAST; TELLS OF JOINT PLAN TO POLICE WORLD

Claims Hitler Will Strike at America if British Lose.

Text of Prime Minister Churchill's speech on pages 8 and 9.

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, describing Adolf Hitler as "surprised, startled, and staggered" at the bloody cost of the German invasion of Russia, declared in a broadcast tonight that Britain would join the United States in action against Japan, the Asiatic axis partner, if the Japanese persisted in aggression.

The speech was the first public utterance of the prime minister since his historic sea conference with President Roosevelt two weeks ago. He said his listeners perhaps had noticed "that the President of the United States and the British representative, in what is aptly called the Atlantic charter, have jointly pledged their countries to the final destruction of Nazi tyranny."

"That is a solemn and grave undertaking," he added. "It must make good."

The joint declaration issued by him and Mr. Roosevelt, Churchill declared, differed in two ways from the attitude of the allies late in the World war.

Tells Plan to Police World.

"The United States and Great Britain do not now assume that there will never be any more war again," he stated. "On the contrary, we intend to take ample precautions to prevent its renewal in any period we can foresee by effectively disarming the guilty nations while remaining suitably protected ourselves."

The other difference, he said, lies in the adoption of the view that "it is not in the interests of the world and of our two countries that any large nation should be unprosperous or shut off from means of making a decent living . . . by its industry and enterprise."

Turning to the situation in the far east, the prime minister said:

"For five long years Japanese military factions, seeking to emulate the style of Hitler and Mussolini, taking all their posturing as if it were a new European revelation, have been invading and harrying 500,000,000 inhabitants of China.

It "Has Got to Stop."

"Japanese armies have been wandering about that vast land in futile excursions, carrying with them carnage, ruin, and corruption and calling it 'the China incident.'

"Now they stretch grasping hands into the southern seas of China, they snatch Indo-China from the wretched Vichy French, they menace by their movements Siam [Thailand], menace Singapore, the British link with Australasia, and menace the Philippine Islands, under the protection of the United States. It is certain that this has got to stop."

Every effort will be made, the prime minister said, to secure a peaceful settlement. He declared the United States is laboring "with infinite patience to arrive at a fair and amicable settlement which will give Japan the utmost reassurance for her legitimate interests." If that fails, he added, "we shall, of course, range ourselves unhesitatingly at the side of the United States."

Warns U. S. Against Nazis.

Discussing "How Near Is the United States to War?" Churchill declared: "There is certainly one man who knows the answer to that question. It Hitler has not yet declared war upon the United States it is surely not out of his love for American institutions. It certainly is not because he could not find a pretext. He has murdered half a dozen countries for far less."

Churchill interpreted the failure of Hitler to war on the United States as a continuation of his policy of destroying nations "one by one." That policy, the prime minister said, needs only one "final successful application to make him master of the world.

He added: "I rejoice to find that the President [Roosevelt] saw in their true light and proportion the extreme dangers by which the American people, as well as the British people, are now beset."

MAMMOTH TANK BATTLES RAGING, MOSCOW REPORTS

Fierce tank battles in the Leningrad and Moscow sectors, with Russian machines ramming, burning and shooting German units out of action, were reported from Moscow today. The Reds admitted they had made a new retreat in the Odessa sector after taking a heavy toll of Rumanian men and material. On the central front a Nazi division was reported routed and 135 tanks destroyed. Fighting in the great hydro-electric power and industrial area on the Dnieper river was reported for the first time.

Germany reported a great encirclement battle developing on a 150 mile front between Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, and Gomel, on the central front. Heavy attacks "with exceptional success" and a "devastating" surprise attack on the most important rail junction in the area were claimed. Stiff resistance was reported in the Smolensk region.

Plants Reduce Rolls Because of Priorities

AID FOR LITTLE FELLOW.

The Tribune today begins in its business section a new department to aid small business men whose enterprises are threatened by governmental priorities. If you are seeking information on priorities for needed materials or are puzzled as to how to try for armament contracts, write to the Small Business Man's Department of The Tribune. Your problems will receive prompt and careful attention.

Where the situation requires it, The Tribune will communicate with your senator or congressman. Letters that report situations of broad interest will be published and commented upon. Questions will be answered when it is possible to do so.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Lay-offs which, with shutdowns, threaten to strangle small industry under the priorities of the national armament program, have begun in Chicago and Illinois.

To understand what this means, it should be known that 77.2 per cent of Illinois' industries are small. According to latest figures available from the Illinois Manufacturers' association, 4,073, or 34.6 per cent, of the state's 11,764 industrial plants employ from one to five persons.

More than 3,100, or 26.6 per cent, employ from six to 20 persons. About 1,700, or 14.3 per cent, have pay rolls of from 21 to 50 employés. In all the state there are only 56 plants, 4-10 of 1 per cent of the total, that have from 1,000 to 2,500 workers and only 20, or 1-10 of 1 per cent, that have more than 2,500.

25 Plants Face Lay-offs.

Early returns from a survey being conducted by Martin Durkin, state director of labor, show that 25 companies are about to lay off more than a third of their 3,400 employés. Chicago establishments affected expect to drop 20 to 100 men each.

They manufacture hardware, nonferrous metal products, pin games, scales and balances, restaurant equipment, and communications equipment. Downstate companies expect to cut forces by half or more. They make gas stoves, steel toys, rubber boots, wire fence, bridges, bricks, clocks, and farm machinery.

The metals they must have to exist are virtually unobtainable by companies that have no defense contracts. And many of these, because of their size, are not equipped to handle government work even if they could get it. Those which do land contracts can get metals for this purpose only. The civilian work, which is the life of their plants, must be neglected.

England Asks Added 15,000 Millions in Lend-Lease.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—With our war outlay to date already topping 53,000 million dollars and the national debt close to 50,000 millions, it transpired today that the British are asking for the loan, lease, or gift of upward of 13,000 million dollars' worth of additional military equipment.

Together with the 7,000 million dollars' worth of planes, ships, arms, and other munitions now being turned out for the British, the new request, if allowed, will bring the American lend-lease expenditure for the benefit of Great Britain alone to 22,000 millions.

Other Proposals Pending.

In addition, proposals are pending to supply the Netherlands East Indies with planes and arms and to finance arms purchases in this country by Russia representing a further outlay of several thousand millions.

Altogether, therefore, the prospect is that within the next few months the aggregate investment of the United States in the war raging in Europe, Africa, and Asia will touch 25,000 millions in lend-lease and money loans alone.

The actual peacetime investment in foreign war, without the firing of a shot by the United States in a fighting war, will be much greater than that amount because a large part of the 53,000 millions so far allocated to national defense is for the purpose not alone of defending the United States from actual invasion but of preserving the British empire as the first line of our defense.

Future Needs Estimated.

While President Roosevelt deprecates any suggestion that we are going into a shooting war, he is preparing for the dispatch of expeditionary forces overseas. Altho an army of fewer than one million men is deemed sufficient by the army general staff to repel an invasion of the United States, the national resources planning board, presided over by the President's uncle, Frederic Delano, disclosed the administration program recently.

For 1941 it estimated 1,800,000 men in military service and 4,800,000 in armaments industries. For 1944, when the maximum war effort is to be achieved, it estimated 3½ million men in military service [nearly the number we had in 1918] and 23½ million in armaments industries.

Hopkins' Mission Revealed.

The British government appealed to Washington recently for 12,000 million dollars' worth of additional arms and other military equipment. It transpires that the real reason for Lend-Lease Administrator Harry Hopkins' recent trip to London was to ascertain the reasons for this colossal requisition in addition to the 7,000 millions already voted and being disbursed. After conferring with British officials, Hopkins reported to the President that the request was fully justified.

Since that time Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of production, has

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24 (AP).—The civilian pay roll of the executive branch of the federal government stood at 1,370,110 persons on June 30, 1941, an increase of 355,993, or 35 per cent, for the fiscal year which closed on that date. The pay roll for June was $205,581,047. The compilation was released today by the civil service commission.

Principal increases occurred in the war and navy departments, the office for emergency management, the civil service commission, the Panama Canal, selective service system, Tennessee Valley authority, and veterans' administration.

A separate report from the census bureau said that public pay rolls had increased by almost one-half since predepression 1929. The January, 1941, pay roll for 5½ million federal, state, and local government workers, was 621 million dollars, the bureau said. It is estimated that public wage and salary expenditures comprise one-sixth of the nation's nonagricultural wage payments.

BURY ANTI-WAR RESOLUTIONS AT LEGION MEETING

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 24.—The rank and file of Illinois Legionnaires, opposed to another AEF, will have no chance to voice their objections unless there is an uprising from the floor at tomorrow's final session of the 23d annual convention of the American Legion, department of Illinois.

Milo J. Warner.

A committee today buried resolutions objecting to the entrance of the American navy into shooting waters, protesting against alliances with Russia, and otherwise criticizing President Roosevelt's meddling in the European war.

A new resolution will be presented for convention approval tomorrow. According to reports, it will call for united support of the Washington administration in its foreign policies. The resolution also will endorse the President's 1940 "no war" pledges, according to reports from the closed committee rooms.

Booklet Under Fire.

It also was learned today that a booklet which it is charged contains war propaganda has been prepared by national headquarters of the Legion for distribution among delegates to the national convention of the vets in Milwaukee next month. The Washington administration, it was said, wants Legion encouragement to take further steps toward war.

These disclosures came on the eve of tonight's session of the convention addressed by National Commander Milo J. Warner and by Gov. Dwight H. Green.

Gov. Green's speech was devoted chiefly to a plea for national preparedness and unity in the "task of defeating the greatest onslaught against human liberty the world has ever known."

Green Sounds Warning.

The governor warned he Legionnaires they must watch for enemies from within.

"It is more than safeguarding our shores against the ravages of invasion that we must watch," he said, "for there is another phase of this peacetime struggle which is as important as recruiting for the military forces, or speeding the whirring wheels of industry.

"As we prepare ourselves to repel danger from without, there comes the need of strong defenses from within. There are those who doubt that government belongs to the people, and that the people can make government work. There are those who hold to the strong philosophies of centralized power, and of individual hate and intolerance. It is against these subversive forces that we can make the inner defenses of the nation impregnable."

National Commander Speaks.

Delegates received a militant message from the Legion national commander, who has been touring the country preaching "all out" aid for the British empire and the Chinese "democracy." Warner presided at a meeting of the national executive committee in Indianapolis in May which urged the President to assign the navy and auxiliary forces to convoy contraband to a belligerent.

Warner, in his speech, described the President's international policy as national commitments, "officially declared government policies.

"All of these commitments form a guiding beacon for the American who values the rights and privileges that have come down to him thru generations of sacrifice. They mean that most of us will sacrifice in many ways before peace is reestablished."

Tells Views on Communism.

The national commander, an artillery captain wounded in the World war, said that America's armed forces must be prepared to take the initiative, selecting the time and place of engagement with the enemy.

"The American Legion," Warner said, "sees nothing in the present situation to change its position in opposition to communism. There is nothing American about communism. It has but one aim, and that is world domination by communism.

"Since this is so, we remain adamant in our oppostion to its further spread here. Whatever aid Stalin can give in resisting Hitlerism is incidentally of benefit to sincere peoples everywhere. That does not call for any change in the attitude towards the communist party in the United States."

William F. Waugh, retiring state commander, told the delegates that this is a "free and unbossed convention" and that the "will of the majority will prevail." He concluded that it was a duty of the veterans "to lead the fight for national unity."

Contains Militant Statements.

The 35 page booklet printed by the Legion's national headquarters calls for "the use of the U. S. navy to insure the delivery of war materials, food, and medical supplies to Great Britain to the end that the battle of the Atlantic may be won." It contains lengthy arguments by Warner, by two national executive committeemen, Clinton Brome of Nebraska and Mike Murray of Minnesota, on why American fighters should be sent into the shooting zone.

The booklet also contains a lengthy anonymous letter from a "midwestern Legionnaire" with such rhetorical questions as: "Would a war that we sit around and wait to be brought to our front door be any less bloody and destructive than one fought now farther away from home?"

A mimeographed letter addressed to the Legion adjutant of a western state [he asked that his name be withheld] suggests a use for these booklets. The letter, signed by the national commander, said that the adjutant would receive "a sufficient quantity so that you may transmit one copy of the folder to each of your department's delegates and alternates to the Milwaukee national convention for their perusal and study prior to that conclave."

"It is not our intent," reads an inclosure with this letter, also purporting to be from the national commander, "to attempt to influence the opinions of the national convention delegates and alternates, but rather it is our belief that such representatives to this highly important national convention are entitled to receive specific and factual information about the present program of the American Legion in relation to the foreign policy of our government."

TRAILS WOMAN GOING ON VISIT; SHOOTS INTO HOME AND IS SEIZED

Karl Schutt, 42 years old, 1709 North Park avenue, was seized by Sheffield avenue police last night after he had admittedly fired a bullet into the home of Kurt Machule at 1020 Diversey parkway.

Karl Schutt.

Schutt, said by Lieut. John O'Malley to be a German alien, was carrying a .32 caliber pistol and a box of cartridges.

In the Machule home at the time was Mrs. Louise Gerhardt, in whose Park avenue home Schutt rooms. She is said to be separated from her husband, Paul, a private chauffeur. Schutt followed her to the Machule home and fired the shot to frighten her, he said. Schutt said they had quarreled because of her demands that he move. Mrs. Gerhardt told a questioner that Schutt had threatened her in trying to induce her to marry him.

STEAL SAFE FROM CHURCH.

Thieves stole a 200 pound safe yesterday from St. Rita's church, 2720 West 63d street. The safe was later found opened at Pulaski road and 127th street. The Rev. John Keough, pastor of the church, said it had contained about $45.

DISMISS "BOOING" OF CANADA CHIEF AS SOLDIER LARK

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 24 (AP).—The sporadic booing which at times was more voluminous than handclapping and cheering during the appearance of Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King yesterday at a sports meet of Canadian troops was written off generally today as a soldierlike lark.

In military quarters there were indications that there would be no repercussions, since one captain explained: "These chaps are over here fighting for democracy and the right to boo is a democratic principle. There's nothing in army regulations to prevent soldiers from booing civilians." Days before the prime minister's visit threats were heard that he would be given a "warm reception." Men who made them said they held him personally responsible for lack of conscription in Canada and failure of the Canadian army to be given a place alongside Australians in the eastern campaign.

U. OF C. YOUTHS EARN BY DANCING, MAGIC, KNITTING

The entering University of Chicago freshman will have a better chance to get a part time job this autumn, the placement bureau reported yesterday. There will be a better choice of jobs—many quite unusual—and a greater turnover.

Among the unusual requests filled by the office are calls for magicians, folk dancers, social escorts, dog walkers at 40 cents an hour, knitters, tennis and golf instructors, photographers, orderlies, subjects for medical and psychological experiments, a mixed drink expert for a wedding, and opera supernumeraries.

One girl wanted an escort to take her to church so her regular boy friend would be jealous. Girls were hired to assist in a secret service investigation, sew curtains, judge contests, serve as subjects in reading experiments, watch pocketbooks, model, and chaperon.

SINK 28 SHIPS, 24 IN SINGLE CONVOY, GERMANS CLAIM

Destroyer and Two Other Warships in Lot.

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP).—The German high command announced tonight that Nazi warships and submarines "operating in overseas waters" sank 25 merchantment totaling 148,200 tons and three escorting naval vessels, all but four of the total in a single convoy bound from England to Gibraltar.

The convoy victims—21 freighters aggregating 122,000 tons, a destroyer, a corvette, and a guard boat—were reported picked off by U-boats in a pursuit that lasted for several days.

Where the other four merchantmen were sunk was not stated in the official announcement.

Claim Only Eight Escaped.

The high command also asserted that the British air force had lost 1,044 planes and the Germans only 127 in two months of air battling from the Mediterranean to the North Sea.

[The Royal air force which has been constantly on the offensive since June 22, has lost 566 planes, against a German loss of 538 on the British fronts, the British said in an official broadcast last night.]

Survivors Tell of "Sea Blitz."

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 24 (AP).—A well timed, two minute "real blitz attack" by German submarines and bombers on a British convoy off the Spanish coast was reported tonight to have sunk seven merchantmen out of 20 and a British destroyer.

Crewmen on a freighter which landed 25 rescued men told of the unusual raid at sea. The survivors reaching Lisbon were picked up from the 1,809 ton British freighter Ciscar.

Besides the destroyer, the men said, they believed three other men-of-war were hit by bombs.

"It was a real blitz attack that didn't last more than two minutes," they said. "Two or three submarines managed to get into the middle of the convoy, and at the moment they started torpedoing several German bombers appeared from the east and coöperated in a well timed manner. It was late at night and we headed full steam to the neutral waters of Portugal."

The convoy was en route to Lisbon and Oporto with coal and tin plate. The tin plate was destined to enable Portuguese industries to supply Britain's $12,000,000 order of canned sardines.

British Lose 29th Submarine.

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight the loss of the submarine Union—the 29th since the war began.

An admiralty communique said: "The board of admiralty regrets to announce H. M. submarine Union [Lieut. R. M. Galloway, R. N.] is overdue and must be considered lost. The next of kin have been informed."

[The Union apparently was a new vessel, as it was not listed in the authoritative Jane's Fighting Ships for 1940, the latest roster of the world's navies.]

British fighters carrying out offensive patrols over northern France today attacked hangars, barracks, troops, and gun positions, the air ministry announced tonight.

The ministry of home security reported little German activity over England during the day and none last night. Bombs were dropped by a single plane this morning but "only slight damage was done and there were no casualties."

The admiralty said a trawler shot down a twin-engined bomber which attacked the little ship.

Nazis Order 10,000 Tons of Wheat to Feed Greece

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP).—A dispatch to DNB, German official news agency, from Athens today said German authorities there have ordered 10,000 tons of wheat from the reich to relieve the food shortage in Greece, particularly in Athens and Piraeus.

KEEFE DEMANDS WAR PARTY TELL REAL AIM TO U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 24.—Congressman Frank B. Keefe of Oshkosh, Wis., addressing an America First rally here today, demanded that the "American war party" reveal it real purposes.

Speaking to citizens from several southern Wisconsin cities, where there is strong sentiment against American involvement in the war, he said "I would like to know just what more those who would have us involved in a shooting war would like us to do."

"If they want us to ship an army, who will furnish the ships?" he asked. He noted that "we are turning over merchant ships as fast as they are built." He charged too much wah material was going abroad.

NAZI WOUNDED GET NORWEGIAN HOSPITAL BEDS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 24.—All Stockholm's newspapers publish a report from their Norwegian correspondents that "more than 20,000 wounded German soldiers are being taken care of in the Norwegian hospitals" and that Oslo hospitals have recently been ordered to evacuate their Norwegian patients to make room for the German wounded.

Canada Bans Coal for Two French Isles to Foil Nazis

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 24 (AP).—Apparently to forestall use of the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon as axis fueling bases, the Canadian government announced tonight a ban on coal exports to these French possessions lying off the southern coast of Newfoundland.

INVASION OF IRAN WITHIN 2 WEEKS IS SEEN BY TURKS

Expect Britain and Russia to Press Nazi Issue.

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 24 (AP).—Hope for a peaceful settlement of the dispute of Iran [Persia] with Britain and Russia over an allied demand for expulsion of German agents was declared by competent foreign sources here today to be virtually abandoned.

Directly in touch with Teheran—the modern capital of the ancient kingdom linked by strategic trade routes with both European and Asiatic Russia, with neutral Turkey, Iraq, and British India—these sources said they expected British and possibly soviet troops to invade within a week. A Caspian sea front was thus in prospect.

Two Drives from Iraq Seen.

Iran officers, with a defense force totaling about 150,000 men, were said to be anticipating two drives from British occupied Iraq.

One army possibly would move from Bagdad, the capital, 100 miles north along a Mosul oil field railway to the border at Khanaqin, then swing northeast for the 350 mile march across mountains and plateaus to Teheran.

A second drive was expected farther south from Basra, at the head of the Persian gulf, where a march of 150 miles eastward over the good highways of that region would place the British in a position to intersect all of Iran's southern roads.

Whether the Russians, occupied as they are against the Germans, desire to take part in any military operation against Iran was not known here, but roads from the Caucasus into Persia are wide open and the weather is reported to be excellent.

Three Objectives Outlined.

Observers outlined three possible objectives in any British-Russian military move against Iran, an independent kingdom of 15,000,000 population:

1. To provide an avenue for British reënforcement of the Red army, with men or supplies, from the middle east. The soviet trans-Caucasian frontier lies 500 miles north of Bagdad over Iran routes; Russia's Turkomen frontier on the Caspian is 600 miles to the northeast.

2. To block a possible Nazi move to strike at the soviet rear via the eastern shores of the Caspian should the Dnieper-Black sea defenses fall.

3. To protect the economic riches of the middle east and India from German invasion.

Already the 40 Americans at Teheran have been warned to assemble at short notice at the United States embassy on the outskirts of the city in the event of rioting such as occurred at Bagdad when the British occupied Iraq in a short war last spring.

Americans Face Difficulties.

How serious a situation would develop in the event of a British operation was not clear here, but sources directly in touch expressed hope that if a march started it would be pressed home rapidly. Foreigners at Teheran, including Americans, have had difficulty with the populace, they said, in various political upheavals.

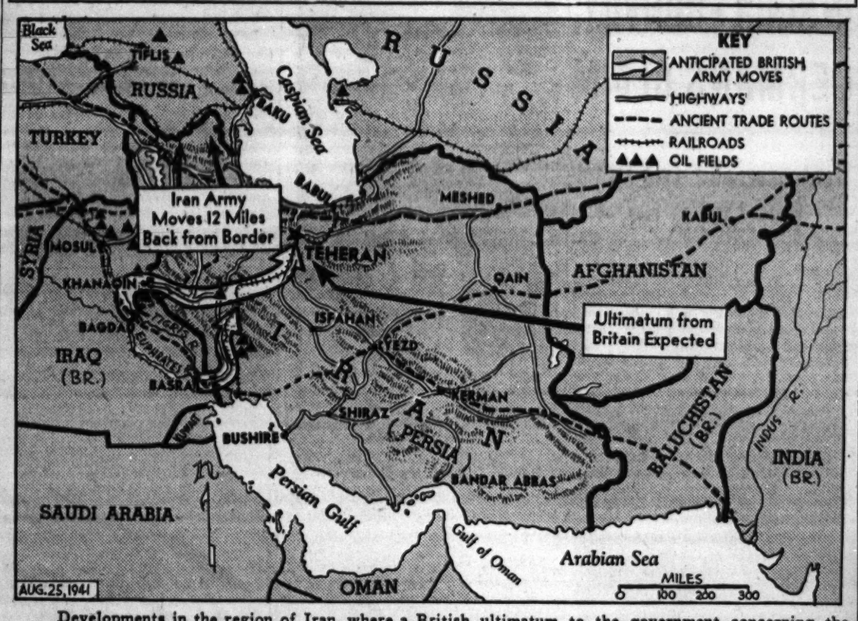
The British have given no details of their plans in the event the Iranians refuse to yield to a suggestion for the expulsion of German "tourists and technicians." Britons contend there are 3,000 in the country; Iranians say there are only 590 German men.

The shah's [king's] reply to the latest British note has been described as unsatisfactory and Teheran foreign circles say they expect the sharpest demands to follow promptly.

Germans Offer Free News; Colombian Papers Spurn It

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 24.—The German Transocean News service is attempting to extend its influence in Colombia, both to the press and radio stations, but with little success. A correspondent of the newspaper El Espectador reports a visit of a Transocean representative at Giradot, offering the service free both to newspapers and radio stations. According to the correspondent's report, all editors prefer the neutral services they are now using.

New Theater of War Envisioned in Iran



Developments in the region of Iran, where a British ultimatum to the government concerning the continued presence of German specialists there is expected momentarily. Foreign observers in Turkey say they expect British and possibly Russian troops to move in within a week.

AWAIT BRITISH ULTIMATUM ON NAZIS IN IRAN

Persians Withdraw on Border, Say Reds.

TEHERAN, Iran, Aug. 23 [Delayed] (AP).—An ultimatum to the Iran government is expected from London today, the British legation said, as tension over the continued presence of German specialists in this country grew near to the snapping point.

Slightly easing the gravity of the situation with respect to soviet Russia, however, the Iran army was reported by soviet sources to have withdrawn 12 miles from the frontier in the Caucasus as a token of good faith in the desire to avoid complicating border incidents.

Still Face British Forces.

No similar withdrawal was reported, however, from the Iraq and Baluchistan borders, whence British troops might be expected should the dispute break into open warfare.

The Iran government was making every effort to assure the defense of its independence, officials said, but they manifestly were making anxious efforts to avoid provocation of foreign powers.

However, Iran's latest reply to the British-Russian demands for the expulsion of Germans was reliably reported to have been a stand pat statement that Iran as a sovereign nation would decide what foreigners to expel.

Reserve Right To Decide.

The country long since has adopted a policy of eliminating foreign residents who are objectionable, regardless of their nationality, the note was reported to have contended.

[British sources in London Saturday said Iran's reply was being studied. There were indications it had been found unsatisfactory. The British said there was not likely to be any announcement concerning Iran's reply over the week-end, a possible indication that they were awaiting Iran's reaction to further steps which have been taken in the dispute.]

The Nazis objected to are employés of the government in key services and industries, but Iran's attitude toward the British-Russian demands is that only small scale sabotage at the most is possible if they are allowed to remain.

"Military Necessity" Hinted.

Some neutral diplomatic quarters were inclined to agree, and to suggest that if the issue is forcibly settled it will be because of the overwhelming military necessity of the British-Russian allies to establish contact in southwestern Asia.

The Iranians contend that because of the strictest police control, reports from abroad of German plotting to stage a coup d'état, as in Iraq, are absurd, and declare that such reports never have been substantiated. Iranians expressed calm resignation toward the developments.

"In sha Allah [If God wills it]," they said.

ITALIAN FLYERS BOMB MALTA AIRPORT; TELL OF MANY FIRES SET

ROME, Aug. 24 (AP).—Italian airplanes bombed Micaba airport on the island of Malta last night, causing numerous fires, the Italian high command said today.

[In Berlin, DNB news agency reports said German planes bombed the Egyptian town of Mersa Matruh Saturday night to "good effect." A heavy explosion and numerous fires resulted.]

New raids by British aircraft on Italian positions in east Africa were reported and Italian detachments were said to have carried out constant land forays against enemy lines. On the Tobruk front there was notable activity of axis artillery and aviation, German air formations "efficaciously bombed" anti-aircraft batteries and anchored ships at Tobruk fortress.

British Admit Tobruk Activity.

CAIRO, Aug. 24 (AP).—The British middle east headquarters communique today admitted enemy artillery activity has shown a slight increase in the Tobruk area of Libya. In the frontier area there was increased patrolling activity during which British artillery shelled enemy patrols, compelling them to withdraw.

CHICAGO AERIAL SHOW TO OFFER A NOTABLE CAST

Cancellation of this year's National Air races at Cleveland has drawn many of the stunt and racing pilots regularly seen in that major air show to the Chicago Air maneuvers, a three day aerial outing at Elmhurst airport Aug. 30, 31, and Sept. 1. As a result, the show's sponsors said yesterday, the Chicago maneuvers will be one of the most important air events in the country this year.

The largest purse ever offered in the history of light plane racing—a total of $1,150 in cash for winners in the Shell trophy race—already has drawn entries from widely scattered parts of the country.

Among the familiar figures will be Danny Fowlie, veteran acrobatic and comedy flyer of Minneapolis; Percy Chaffee of Wisconsin, former motion picture stunt pilot; Kenny Olson, Racine, Wis., speedster, and Harold Johnson, Chicago.

Joint sponsors of the Chicago Air maneuvers are the flying club of the Junior Association of Commerce and the Aircraft Owners and Pilots association. The Elmhurst airport is on Lake street, nine miles west of the loop.

GERMANS BATTLE TO ENCIRCLE REDS IN 150 MILE AREA

Open Drives from Kiev and Gomel Sectors.

BERLIN, Aug. 25 [Monday.]—A great encirclement battle was declared by DNB, official news agency, to be developing today on the 150 mile sector between Kiev and Gomel.

Strong soviet forces under Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, the news agency said, are being hemmed in between the left wing of Field Marshal General Karl von Runstedt's southern army group and the right wing of Field Marshal General Fedor von Bock's central army.

DNB reported that the German air force made heavy attacks "with exceptional success" yesterday in this area. A surprise attack, which it described as "devastating," also was made on the most important rail junction. Stiff resistance in the Smolensk area also was disclosed.

Two Thrusts Under Way.

The developing Kiev-Gomel battle apparently was one phase of two widely separated thrusts eastward reported by the German high command in the zones of menaced Leningrad and Kiev, which coincided with renewed pressure upon two bitterly contested centers of isolated resistance, Tallinn and Odessa.

"Northwest of Kiev," the high command said, "pursuit of the defeated enemy continued across the Dnieper river. Soviet forces defeated south of Ilmen lake [about 100 miles south of Leningrad] were thrown across the River Lovat. More than 10,000 prisoners and much booty fell into our hands."

Finnish attacks against the Russians on both sides of Lake Ladoga, north of Leningrad, also were declared to be continuing "to make good progress."

Drive on Tallinn.

The high command said that German troops fighting in Estonia "are going forward in a concentric attack upon Tallinn the soviet held capital on the Baltic sea.

The German air force vigorously supported infantry and armored units in the actions before Tallinn and Leningrad, DNB said, and maintained a patrol to prevent escape of the Tallinn garrison by sea. Strong Russian field fortifications around Tallinn were declared to have been successfully bombarded. Railways into Leningrad from the south and southeast were reported to have been torn up by bomb hits.

German tanks, news reports said, rumbled to the Baltic shore on the Estonian coast [apparently near Tallinn] and drove off Russian vessels which sought to land men in three boats. Five soviet ships were declared to have been sunk after striking mines in a Finnish bay.

German flyers sank a Russian gunboat on the Desna river, a tributary of the Dnieper, battered another so badly it had to be grounded, and damaged an 8,000-ton tanker, DNB said.

Chicago Soldier Killed When Truck Overturns

Two soldiers—one from Chicago and the other from Milwaukee, Wis.—were killed yesterday when an army truck overturned near Robeline, La. They were Private Thasseus J. Whatulewicz, whose address was given as 3915 North Spaulding avenue, and Private Lester H. Lammert of Milwaukee. They were members of the 18th ordnance battalion.

Nazis Confer Iron Cross on 22 of Italy's Flyers

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, commander in chief of the German air force, in the name of Herr Hitler, today conferred the Iron Cross upon 22 members of the Italian air force for "bravery before the enemy." The Italians escorted German bomber formations in attacks upon Tobruk, Libyan port held by the British.

Japs Release Mail Held at Shanghai: 'All a Mistake'

Yesterday's developments along the German-Russian battle front as reported by both combatants. White arrows show an encircling movement, Nazis say, by armies of Gen. von Runstedt and Gen. von Bock.

Jail German for Snapping Picture of Colombian Road

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 24.—The Cali correspondent of the newspaper El Tiempos today reported the arrest near there of a German engineer, Wilhelm Birschel, for photographing and obtaining other data concerning the highway connecting that city with the Pacific ocean. Birschel, also traveling without the permission of police, is being held in jail in Cali pending transfer here.

FINNS CAPTURE THREE TOWNS IN DRIVE ON VIIPURI

Attack Karelian Capital on Two Sides.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 24 (AP).—Finnish troops driving down the strategic Saimaa canal north of Viipuri [Viborg], formerly Finland's second largest city, were reported tonight to have captured Rattijarvi, within 18 miles of the old Karelian capital won by the Russians in the winter war of 1939-'40.

The push down the canal was just one phase of the newly-opened Finnish encircling offensive against Viipuri.

A spearhead from the west, complementing the earlier operations across the Vuoksi River to the east and south, was said to have captured Sakkijarvi, about 20 miles from Viipuri. A third town reported captured was Nuijamaa, at the head of a lake about 20 miles north of Viipuri. This town apparently was captured by the troops which moved on to take Rattijarvi.

Army correspondents at the front reported Finnish casualties were "insignificant." They said numerous villages left by the Russians escaped much devastation owing to the rapidity of the Finnish operations but that evidence was found where the Russians hastily but vainly attempted to carry out Dictator Stalin's scorched earth policy.

It was reported officially that Karjaa and Koski were bombed Saturday but no damage was caused. It was said eight Russian planes were shot down. Official reports also said the Finnish air forces bombed Red trains and motor columns.

TANK WAR RAGES NEAR LENINGRAD, RUSSIA REPORTS

Tells of New Battles Near Moscow Also.

MOSCOW, Aug 25 [Monday] (AP).—Mammoth tank battles raged today along the approaches to Leningrad and on the central front before Moscow, were stiffening Red army defenders reported destroying 135 tanks and routing a Nazi infantry division.

On the Leningrad front, slow, heavy soviet steel behemoths were ramming, burning and shooting aside the Germans in a mighty defensive effort while on the central front forces of Gen. Konev were declared continuing a counterthrust thru the débris of shattered German tanks and armored vehicles.

The early Monday morning communique said soviet troops were heavily engaged along the entire front and were putting up particularly stubborn resistance in the Kakisalmi area on the shores of Lake Ladoga north of Leningrad, in the Smolensk and Gomel sectors before Moscow, and in the direction [area] of Dnepropetrovsk.

Admit Odessa Retreat.

The mention of Dnepropetrovsk was the first official admission that fighting had reached the vicinity of that great hydroelectric power and industrial center of the Dnieper river.

The morning communique acknowledged a new retreat by Red army forces defending Odessa but said that the advancing Rumanians in this sector were forced to pay an enormous toll in men and machines. The 5th Rumanian infantry division alone was said to have lost 9,000 men killed or wounded in five days of fighting. Another 7,000 casualties was sustained by the 7th Rumanian infantry division, it added, while Sunday communiques said the 3d Rumanian infantry division was smashed with the loss of 10,000 and that the 15th division had been routed.

Claim Tanks Smashed.

The dispatch described one encounter of a Russian tank unit with a column of 40 German machines on the northern front. The Red army tanks, spaced at wide intervals in a triangle formation, formed an ambush in a forest near a highway. At dawn, two reconnoitering German tanks were destroyed by gunfire at 300 yards. The remainder of the German column charged down the road and was dispersed by flanking fire. Many Nazi tanks were reported wrecked.

In another encounter, the dispatch said, 4 Russian tanks destroyed 31 German tanks. A dispatch to the communist party organ Pravda from the city "N," one of the approaches to Leningrad, said the entire civilian population had taken up military work.

Claim Two Ships Sunk.

The Germans concentrated their offensive about Kingisepp, shell torn town 75 miles southwest of Leningrad which the Russians abandoned Aug. 18. But for six days the Russian lines appeared to have steadied there. Fighting also was reported heavy at Novgorod, 100 miles southwest of Leningrad.

A dispatch to the official Tass agency said communications between Leningrad and the front continue to function efficiently despite German attempts to bomb and strafe railway trains. Tass said the railways were supplying the front regularly with troops and arms.

The Baltic Red fleet was reported to have sunk two enemy transports and in air fights Friday and Saturday, the communique said, 52 German and 39 Russian planes were destroyed.

Heavy fighting also raged on the southeastern front where a soviet cavalry regiment was reported to have thrown German units out of a town identified as "B" and captured a German division headquarters. This fighting, altho not specifically located, presumably was in the Dnieper bend. Some 700 German dead were left in this town, a Russian account said.

LONG CONVOY LEAVES FORT SHERIDAN FOR WAR GAMES IN SOUTH

A 72 mile caravan of trucks and guns rolled out of Fort Sheridan before daylight yesterday, headed for army maneuvers in Louisiana and Mississippi. In the caravan were more than 790 vehicles and 4,400 troops of the 40th coast artillery anti-aircraft brigade.

The head of the column moved out shortly after 3 a. m. and by noon yesterday had reached Bloomington, Ill., the first overnight stop. Ranging from 19,000 pound prime movers, hauling guns and searchlights, to half ton "jeeps," the convoy moved along at 30 miles an hour. The vehicles were spaced in groups of 18 and 20, half a mile or more apart, so that civilian traffic was subjected to little hindrance. City and state police ushered the convoy thru towns and busy crossroads.

Col. Carl E. Hocker, brigade commander, said the unit is scheduled to arrive in Lake Village, Ark., Aug. 30. It will return to Fort Sheridan in about six weeks.

MAKE LABOR DAY AMERICA FIRST DAY AT FESTIVAL

Labor day—next Monday—also will be "America First day" at the 37th annual fall festival in St. Charles, officials said yesterday. Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will address an anti-war rally at 8:30 p. m., in the natural amphitheater at Potawatomi park. The festival starts Friday.

The amphitheater will seat 7,000 persons, but loudspeakers thruout the 40 acre park will carry Wheeler's address to the throng of visitors expected for the final day of the festival. In addition, the speech will be carried by the Mutual Broadcasting system. Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting chairman of America First, will introduce Senator Wheeler.

Two America First rallies are scheduled for tonight. Attorney Walter F. Boye will address the Oak Park chapter at 736 Lake street, and Harry A. Veeneman will speak before the Evanston chapter at 908 Seward street. Both meetings start at 8 o'clock.

SURVEY REVEALS MANY GIRLS QUIT BRITISH WAR JOBS

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Hundreds of women have left munitions factories in Britain without permission in violation of defense regulations. The maximum prison term for this offense is two years, and the maximum fine $2,000.

At Northampton, with a population of 100,000, the proportion of women on war work was about one-twentieth of what it should have been, stated the Sunday Express, which assigned a reporter to investigate to what extent British girls were dodging war work as compared with German girls.

The reporter, a woman, said that at a Northampton labor exchange, where 4,850 women and girls were registered under the national service scheme, less than one girl in 20 accepted war work. She interviewed many girls who, she said, declared they would go to work only when they were made to go, saying they did not desire to leave their homes.

German Girls "Work Cited."

She compared the situation at Northampton with that at Plauen, Saxony, where, she said, "every able-bodied German woman, married or single, was doing a war job. The Germans were not asked; they were sent to the factories."

Recommending that the "ministry of labor take immediate action under the essential works order," the Sunday Express declared that "as many as 75 per cent of the girls drafted left their jobs without permission in some facories in the Midlands."

The reporter interviewed representatives of the Midlands regional office of the ministry of labor and representatives of some of the largest firms of the Midlands. She quoted a Birmingham employer:

"We had 700 girls drafted to us. We interviewed each in the hope of eliminating those who would not stay. We have, therefore, kept more of our girls than most of the firms. Even so, 200 already have left."

Two Quit; Win in Court.

The Sunday Express told of two Birmingham girls who quit their jobs on the ground that they wanted to select their jobs. Altho the law gives no one this choice, the girls won their case in the regional court. The paper suggested the government take up these cases as a national test.

King Peter of Jugo-Slavia to Speak to U.S. Sept. 6

New York, Aug. 24 [Special].—Exiled King Peter of Jugo-Slavia will broadcast to the United States from London on Sept. 6, his 18th birthday, and will be answered by Wendell L. Willkie, speaking from New York, it was announced today by the American Friends of Jugo-Slavia. The half hour broadcast will be carried over the Columbia Broadcasting system's network. The king's message will be delivered in English. Sept. 6, the date on which the king would have ascended the throne in normal times, has been designated "Jugo-Slav Liberty day" in several states.

PRESIDENT TAKES ROYAL VISITOR ON TOUR OF ESTATE

Entertainment for Duke Is Kept Secret.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 24—A virtual blackout of news on his entertainment of royalty in the person of the duke of Kent, 39 year old brother of King George VI. of England, was imposed today by President Roosevelt.

The duke was shielded from the press as effectively as was Prime Minister Churchill when the latter conferred with Mr. Roosevelt two weeks ago at a secret sea rendezvous.

Mr. Roosevelt took the duke on a tour of the Roosevelt estate and had a number of friends and neighbors in to greet the representative of British royalty, but did not permit reporters to go near the duke or the other guests.

Mr. Roosevelt took the duke to the dream cottage the President erected as a retirement hideaway before he began his third term campaign. He also showed the duke the library he has erected as a memorial to himself a short distance from his mother's home.

Mr. Roosevelt took his guest about the broad acres of the family estate in the low priced car on the limited gasless Sunday.

Route Winds Thru Yule Trees.

The route—along miles of narrow winding dirt roads thru the acres of Christmas trees Mr. Roosevelt is raising for the yuletide market—was almost identical to that which the President took in showing King George and Queen Elizabeth the Roosevelt family property during the visit which the rulers made here in June, 1939.

Mr. Roosevelt did not make public the list of friends and neighbors who were permitted to meet the duke or the names of the most favored of these who broke bread with royalty at luncheon and dinner.

It was believed the duke and the President listened to Prime Minister Churchill's radio report to the world on the sea conference with Mr. Roosevelt.

Duke to Be White House Guest.

The duke went aboard the presidential special late at night to accompany Mr. Roosevelt to Washington. The duke will make a flying visit to the naval establishments at Anacostia in the District of Columbia and at Norfolk, Va., and will return to the White House for dinner tomorrow. He will leave Tuesday to return to Canada to complete his tour of dominion arms establishments.

While the duke makes his inspections Mr. Roosevelt will confer with the congressional big four — Vice President Henry Wallace, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Senate Majority Leader, Albert Barkley, and House Majority Leader John W. McCormack on the second instalment of lend-lease aid to Britain, which is to take at least 5,000 million dollars.

GERALDINE MARCOUX.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24 [Special].—Miss Geraldine Marcoux, 20 years old, Marygrove college sociology student, confessed to the judges that she couldn't sing or dance, but the judges liked her other qualities so much that she was named to represent Michigan in the "Miss America" competition in Atlantic City, N. J., next month. A tall, dark haired Detroit girl, Geraldine intends to enter social-medical work upon graduation.

FINNS 'UNMASK' BOLSHEVISM AS 'GREAT SWINDLE'

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 24.—Finnish newspaper men, doubling in the army as reporters and front line fighters, have exposed bolshevism as the "greatest swindle in the history of the world," the newspaper Uusi Suomi said today.

These writers, accompanied by photographers and movie cameramen, have been among the first soldiers to enter Karelian territory captured from the Russians and their reports, written at the front, the paper said, have unmasked conditions in soviet cities, towns, and countryside.

There have been a number of casualties among this specially organized group, known as the propaganda company, but the hazards of their jobs have not prevented complete news and picture coverage of the war. Their stories and photographs of war scenes appear daily in Finland's newspapers.

Misery, Poverty Found.

"Communism's allegation that its revolution has brought more culture and better living standards to the inhabitants of Russia has been proved a frightful lie," it declared. "Misery, poverty, distress, and disease have been the lot of the Karelians under soviet rule for 24 years."

Uusi Suomi, comparing the life of English peasantry under feudal barons with that of th Russians, said that the "baron in his castle was replaced by the commissar in his palace and torture and terror have made the inhabitants of Russia more like beasts."

"These Karelians lived in completely medieval conditions," it said. "In the villages there has been no sugar since last autumn. The loudly advertised achievements of the soviet system were found to be pure phantasy. Most of their great schemes remained on paper or were not completed.

Call It Imperialism.

"On the stony Karelian hillside one finds Russian made copies of the great American harvesting machines, suited for the American prairie but not for northern soil. In jerrybuilt hospitals one finds first class instruments still in their original packing.

"We have been listening for years to the communist propaganda from Moscow and Leningrad about the enormous progress achieved in Karelia, but we found only speakers' platforms and festive portals on the miserable roads leading into the villages, and libraries with unread books.

"It would be an education for the communists abroad to be sentenced to live for a year in such surroundings as we have found everywhere. Bolshevism is not a social matter—it is a new form of imperialism."

REDUCTION OF 10 YEAR 'SPIT' CASE SENTENCE INDICATED IN CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24 (AP).—Authoritative sources indicated today the war department would reduce the 10 year courtmartial sentence imposed on John Habinyak, a draftee, for insubordination.

The adjutant general of the army, who has the case under study, is expected to recommend clemency to Secretary of War Stimson. There was no advance indication what modification of punishment would be proposed. Army officials said Stimson will act Tuesday on the adjutant general's recommendation, and the case then will go to President Roosevelt for final review.

Habinyak, who is 26 years old, was sentenced for disobedience of orders, including one to clean up after he had spat on the messhall floor at Fort Bragg, N. C.

HULL WELCOMES ICELAND'S TRADE MISSION TO U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24 (AP).—A special Icelandic government trade delegation announced here tonight it would open negotiations immediately with the United States government "concerning various questions of finance, trade, and shipping which are of vital importance to Iceland."

The statement recalled that in recent years "Iceland has endeavored to show that there are fine opportunities for American business and industry in Iceland" and expressed hope that American forces which arrived in Iceland on July 7 to protect the country would prepare the way for "lasting coöperation in economic and cultural relations between these two democracies."

Members of the trade delegation are Vilhjalmur Thor, managing director of the National Bank of Iceland and former consul general of Iceland in New York, who is chairman; Asgeir Asgeirsson, managing director of the Fisheries Bank of Iceland and formerly price minister and president of the althing [parliament]; and Bjorn Olfasson, a member of the Anglo-Icelandic joint standing committee.

Cafe Chef Shot by Two Bandits Dies of Wound

Emilio Gatto, 60 years old, of 4955 Erie street, died yesterday in the Danish-American hospital from a bullet wound inflicted earlier in the day by two bandits who held up the Grand café at 3635 Division street, where Gatto was chef. The bandits shot Gatto after terrorizing 25 patrons in the café, robbing them of $100 and taking $75 from George Udoni, the owner.

TEXT OF SPEECH BY CHURCHILL WARNING JAPAN

Britain Will Join U. S. in Action, Says Premier.

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP).—The text of Prime Minister Churchill's broadcast tonight follows:

"I thought you would like me to tell you something about the voyage I made across the ocean to meet our great friend, the President of the United States. Exactly where we met is secret, but I don't think I shall be indiscreet if I go so far as to say that it was 'somewhere in the Atlantic.'

"In a spacious landlocked bay which reminded me of the west coast of Scotland, powerful American warships, protected by strong flotillas and far ranging aircraft, awaited our arrival and, as it were, stretched a hand out to help us in. Our party arrived in the newest, or almost the newest, British battleship, the Prince of Wales, with a modest escort of British and Canadian destroyers. And there for three days I spent my time in company and, I think I may say, in comradeship with Mr. Roosevelt, while the chiefs of staff and naval and military commanders, both of the British empire and of the United States, sat together in continual council.

"President Roosevelt is the thrice chosen head of the most powerful state and community in the world. I am a servant of king and parliament at present charged with principal direction of our affairs in these fateful times, and it is my duty also to make sure, as I have made sure, that anything I say or do in the exercise of my office is approved and sustained by the whole British commonwealth of nations.

Calls Parley Symbolic.

"Therefore, this meeting was bound to be important because of the enormous forces, at present only partially mobilized but steadily mobilizing, which are at the disposal of these two major groupings of the human family which happen to speak the same language and very largely think the same thoughts, or, anyhow, think a lot of the same thoughts.

"The meeting was therefore symbolic. That is its prime importance. It symbolizes, in form and manner which every one can understand in every land and in every clime, deep underlying unities which stir, and at decisive moments rule, English speaking peoples thruout the world.

"Would it be presumptuous for me to say that it symbolized something even more majestic, namely the marshalling of the good forces of the world against the evil forces which are now so formidable and triumphant and have cast their cruel spell over the whole of Europe and a large part of Asia?

"This was a meeting which marks forever in the pages of history the taking up by English speaking nations, amid all this peril, tumult, and confusion, of the guidance of fortunes of the broad toiling masses in all continents and our loyal effort, without any clog of selfish interest, to lead them forward out of the miseries into which they have been plunged, back to the broad high road of freedom and justice.

A "Glorious Opportunity."

"This is the highest honor and the most glorious opportunity which could ever have come to any branch of the human race. When one beholds how many currents of extraordinary and terrible events have flowed together to make this harmony, even the most skeptical person must have the feeling that we all have a chance to play our part and do our duty in some great design, the end of which no mortal can foresee.

"Awful and horrible things are happening in these days. The whole of Europe has been wrecked and trampled down by the mechanical weapons and the barbaric fury of the Nazis. The most deadly instruments of war and science have been joined to extreme refinements of treachery and the most brutal exhibitions of ruthlessness, and thus have formed a combine of aggression the like of which has never been known before.

"The characteristics and structure of many ancient and honored states and peoples have been laid prostrate, and are now ground down under the heel and terror of the monster—Austrians, Czechs, Poles, Norwegians, Danes, Belgians, Dutch, Greeks, Croats, and Serbs, above all the great French nation—have been stunned and pinioned. Italy, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria have bought shameful respite by becoming jackals of the tiger.

Hitler Lashed as "Devil."

"But their true situation is very little different, and will presently be indistinguishable, from that of his victims. Sweden, Spain and Turkey stand appalled, wondering which will be struck down next. Here, then, is a vast pit into which all of the most famous states and races of Europe have been flung and from which unaided they can never climb.

"But all this did not satiate Adolf Hitler. He made a treaty of nonaggression with soviet Russia, just as he made one with Turkey, in order to keep them quiet till he was ready to attack them, and then nine weeks ago today, without a vestige of provocation, he hurled millions of soldiers with all their apparatus upon a neighbor he had called his friend, with the avowed object of destroying Russia and tearing her to pieces.

"This frightful business is now unfolding day by day before our eyes. Here is a devil who, in the mere spasms of his pride and lust for domination, can condemn two or three millions—perhaps it may be many more—of human beings to speedy and violent death. 'Let Russia be blotted out,' 'Let Russia be destroyed; order the armies to advance'—such were his decrees. Accordingly, from the Arctic ocean to the Black sea, six or seven millions of soldiers are locked in mortal struggle.

Aggressor Finally "Staggered."

"Ah, but this time it was not so easy. This time it was not all one way. The Russian armies and all the peoples of the Russian republic have rallied to the defense of their hearths and homes. For the first time Nazi blood has flowed in fearful flood. Perhaps a million and a half, perhaps two millions, of Nazi cannon fodder have bit the dust of the endless plains of Russia.

"A tremendous battle rages along nearly 2,000 miles of front. The Russians fight with magnificent devotion. Not only that; our generals who have visited the Russian front line report with admiration the efficiency of their military organization and the excellence of their equipment. The aggressor is surprised, startled, staggered. For the first time in his experience, mass murder has become unprofitable. He retaliates by the most frightful cruelties.

"As his armies advance, whole districts are being exterminated. Scores of thousands—literally scores of thousands—of executions in cold blood are being perpetrated by German police troops upon Russian patriots who defend their native soil.

"Since the Mongol invasion of Europe in the 16th century there has never been a methodical, merciless butchery of such scale. And this is but the beginning.

Japan "Has Got to Stop."

"Famine and pestilence have yet to follow in the bloody ruts of Hitler's tanks. We are in the presence of crime without name. But Europe is not the only continent to be tormented and devastated by aggressions. For five long years Japanese military factions seeking to emulate the style of Hitler and Mussolini, taking all their posturing as if it were new European revelation, have been invading and harrying 500,000,000 inhabitants of China. Japanese armies have been wandering about that vast land in futile excursions, carrying with them carnage, ruin, and corruption and calling it 'the Chinese incident.'

"Now they stretch a grasping hand into the southern seas of China. They snatch Indo-China from the wretched Vichy French. They menace by their movements Siam [Thailand]. They menace Singapore, the British link with Australasia and menace the Philippine Islands, which are under the protection of the United States. It is certain that this has got to stop.

Every effort will be made to secure a peaceful settlement. The United State is laboring with infinite patience to arrive at a fair and amicable settlement which will give Japan the utmost reassurance for her legitimate interests.

"We earnestly hope these negotiations will succeed. But this I must say, that if these hopes should fail we shall, of course, range ourselves unhesitatingly at the side of the United States.

Peace Aim Explained.

"And thus we come back to a quiet bay somewhere in the Atlantic where misty sunshine plays on great ships which carry the white ensign or the Stars and Stripes.

"We had, the idea when we met there—the President and I—that without attempting to draw final and formal peace aims, or war aims, it was necessary to give all peoples, and especially the oppressed and conquered peoples, a simple rough-and-ready wartime statement of the goal toward which the British commonwealth and the United States mean to make their way and thus make way for others to march with them upon the road which will certainly be painful and may be long.

"There are, however, two distinct and marked differences in this joint declaration from the attitude adopted by the allies during the latter part of the last war, and no one should overlook them.

"The United States and Great Britain do not now assume that there will never be any more war again. On the contrary, we intend to take ample precautions to prevent its renewal in any period we can foresee by effectively disarming the guilty nations while remaining suitably protected ourselves.

Chance for Trade Pledged to All.

"The second difference is this: That instead of trying to ruin German trade by all kinds of additional trade barriers and hindrances, as was the mood of 1917, we have definitely adopted the view that it is not in the interests of the world and of our two countries that any large nation should be unprosperous or shut off from means of making a decent living for itself and its people by its industry and enterprise. These are far-reaching changes of principle upon which all countries should ponder.

"Above all, it is necessary to give hope and assurance of final victory to those many scores of millions of men and women who are battling for life and freedom or who are already bent down under the Nazi yoke.

"Hitler and his confederates have for some time been adjuring, bullying and beseeching populations whom they have wronged and injured to bow to their fate, to resign themselves to their servitude, and for sake of some mitigations and indulgences, to collaborate—that is the word—in what is called the new order in Europe.

"New Order" Analyzed.

"What is this new order which they seek to fasten first upon Europe and if possible—for their ambitions are boundless—upon all the continents of the globe?

"It is the rule of herrenfolk, the master race who are to put an end to democracy, to parliaments, to fundamental freedoms and decencies

Capt. Elliott Roosevelt.

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP).—Capt. Elliott Roosevelt dropped into a Wapping wharf pub [beer hall] on Friday night, quaffed ale with London East Enders, and planted a resounding kiss on the cheek of 60-year-old "Auntie" Sue Cunningham, one of the establishment's regulars.

It was during a tour of bombed ruins along the Thames that President Roosevelt's son made his impromptu call. Quickly the crowd of dock-wallopers recognized him and the piano player swung into a rendition of "Franklin D. Roosevelt Jones."

Roosevelt joined the house in singing lusty American songs and then the cry went up "Speech! Speech!" Responding, he said:

"We shall be with you at the finish and all the time. You are getting stronger and stronger. We are doing our best."

"Auntie" Sue made bold and blurted, "Gosh, I'd like to kiss you, sir, but I suppose I mustn't."

of ordinary men and women, to historic rights of nations, and give them in exchange the iron rule of Prussia, a universal goose step and strict, efficient discipline enforced upon working classes by political police, with German concentration camps and firing parties, now so busy in a dozen lands, always handy in the background.

"Napoleon in his glory and genius spread his empire far and wide. There was a time when only the snows of Russia and the white cliffs of Dover, with their guardian fleets, stood between him and dominion of the world. Napoleon's armies had a theme; they carried with them surges of French revolution.

"'Liberty, equality, and fraternity'—that was the cry. There was a sweeping away of outworn, medieval systems and aristocratic privilege, land for people, a new code of laws. Nevertheless, Napoleon's empire vanished like a dream.

"But Hitler—Hitler has no theme, nought but mania, appetite, and exploitation. He has, however, weapons and machinery for grinding down and holding down conquered countries which are a product, a sadly perverted product, of modern science.

"The ordeals, therefore, of the conquered peoples will be hard. We must give them hope, we must give them conviction that their sufferings and their resistances will not be in vain. The tunnel may be dark and long but at its end there is light. That is symbolism, and that is the message of the Atlantic meeting.

Free Europe Pledged.

"Do not despair, brave Norwegians; your land shall be cleansed, not only from the invader, but from the filthy Quislings who are his tools.

"Be sure of yourselves, Czechs; your independence shall be restored.

"Poles: The heroism of your people standing up to the cruel oppressors, the courage of your soldiers, sailors and airmen shall not be forgotten. Your country shall live again and resume its rightful part in the new organization of Europe.

"Lift up your heads, gallant Frenchmen: Not all the infamies of Darlan [Jean Darlan, French vice premier] and of Laval [Pierre Laval, former vice premier] shall stand between you and the restoration of your birthright.

"Tough, stout-hearted Dutch, Belgians, Luxemburgers; tormented, mishandled, shamefully cast away peoples of Jugo-Slavia; glorious Greece, now subjected to the crowning insults of rule by the Italian jackanapes: Yield not an inch. Keep your souls clean from all contact with the Nazi. Make them feel, even in their fleeting hour of brutish triumph, that they are moral outcasts of mankind. Help is coming. Mighty forces are arming in your behalf. Have faith. Have hope. Deliverance is sure.

"There is the signal which we have flashed across waters. And if it reaches the hearts of those to whom it is sent, they will endure with fortitude and tenacity their present misfortunes in sure faith that they, too, are still serving the common cause and that their efforts will not be in vain.

U. S. Joins "Joint Pledge."

"You will perhaps have noticed that the President of the United States and the British representative, in what is aptly called the Atlantic charter, have jointly pledged their countries to the final destruction of Nazi tyranny. That is a solemn and grave undertaking. It must make good. It will be made good, and, of course, many practical arrangements to fulfill that purpose have been and are being organized and set in motion.

"The question has been asked: How near is the United States to war? There is certainly one man who knows the answer to that question.

"If Hitler has not yet declared war upon the United States it is surely not out of his love for American institutions. It is certainly not because he could not find pretext. He has murdered half a dozen countries for far less.

"The fear of immediate redoubling of the tremendous energies now being employed against him is no doubt a restraining influence. But the real reason is, I am sure, to be found in the method to which he has so faithfully adhered and by which he has gained so much. What is that method? It is a very simple method. 'One by one'—that is his plan; that is his guiding rule; that is the trick by which he has enslaved so large a portion of the world.

Czechs' Fall Laid to France.

"Three and a half years ago I appealed to my fellow countrymen to take the lead in weaving together a strong defensive union within the principles of the league of nations of all countries who felt themselves in ever growing danger, but none would listen. All stood idle while Germany rearmed. Czecho-Slovakia was subjugated. The French government deserted their faithful ally and broke their plighted word in that ally's hour of need.

"Russia was cajoled and deceived into a kind of neutrality or partnership while the French army was annihilated. The Low Countries and Scandinavian countries, acting with France and Great Britain in good time even after the war had begun, might have altered its course and would have had, at any rate, a fighting chance. The Balkan states had only to stand together to save themselves from the ruin by which they are now engulfed.

Mastered "One by One."

"But one by one they are undermined and overwhelmed. Never was a career of crime made more smooth. Now Hitler is striking at Russia with all his might, well knowing the difficulties of geography which stand between Russia and aid which western democracies are trying to bring. We shall strive our utmost to overcome all difficulties and bring this aid. We have arranged for a conference in Moscow between the United States, British, and Russian authorities to settle the whole plan. No barrier must stand in the way.

"But why is Hitler striking at Russia and inflicting, and suffering himself, this frightful slaughter? It is with the declared object of turning his whole force upon the British island. And if he could succeed in beating the life and strength out of us—which is not so easy—then is the moment when he will settle his account—and it already is a long one—with the people of the United States and generally with the western hemisphere.

"'One by one'—there is the process, there is the simple, dismal plan which has served Hitler so well. It needs but one final successful application to make him master of the world. I am devoutly thankful that some eyes, at least, are fully opened to it while time remains.

"Extreme Danger" Seen by F. D. R.

"I rejoiced to find that President Roosevelt saw in their true light and proportion the extreme dangers by which the American people as well as the British people are now beset. It was indeed by the mercy of God that he began eight years ago that revival of strength of the American navy without which the new world today would have to take its orders from European dictators, but with which the United States still retains the power to marshal her gigantic strength and, in saving herself, render incomparable service to mankind.

"We had a service on Sunday in our Atlantic bay. The President came on the quarter deck of the Prince of Wales where there were mingled together many hundreds of American and British sailors and marines. The sun shone bright and warm while we all sang old hymns which are our common inheritance and which we learned as children in our homes. We sang a hymn founded on a Psalm which John Hampden's soldiers sang when they bore his body to the grave and in which the brief, precarious span of human life is contrasted with one to whom a thousand ages are but as yesterday when it is past and as a watch in the night.

"Sure Hope of Saving World."

"We sang the sailors' hymn 'for those,' and there are very many 'in peril on the sea.' We sang 'Onward Christian Soldiers,' and, indeed, I felt this was no vain presumption but that we had a right to feel we were serving a cause for sake of which the trumpet has sounded from on high.

"When I looked upon that densely packed congregation of fighting men of the same language, of the same faith, of the same fundamental laws, of the same ideals, and now, to large extent, of the same interests, and certainly in different degrees facing the same dangers, it swept across me that here was the only hope but also the sure hope of saving the world from measureless degradation.

"And so we came back across the ocean waves uplifted in spirit, fortified in spirit.

"Some American destroyers who were carrying mails to United States marines in Iceland happened to be going the same way, too, so we made a goodly company at sea together and when we were right out in mid-passage one afternoon a noble sight broke on view. We overtook one of the convoys which carry munitions and supplies of the new world to sustain the champions of freedom in the old.

"The whole horizon seemed filled with ships. Seventy or eighty ships of all kinds and sizes arrayed in fourteen lines, each of which could have been drawn with a ruler; hardly a wisp of smoke, not a straggler, but all bristling with cannon and other precautions on which I will not dwell, surrounded by their British escorting vessels while overhead far-ranging Catalina airboats soared in vigilant protection as eagles in the sky.

"And then I felt that hard and terrible and long-drawn out as this struggle may be, we shall not be denied the strength to do our duty to the end."

JOAN LESLIE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24 (AP).—Joan Leslie, film actress, visited the mayors of New York, Detroit, and Chicago, obtaining letters congratulating Los Angeles on the 160th anniversary of its founding. Back home yesterday she delivered the greetings to Mayor Fletcher Bowron verbally—and sheepishly. She had lost the letters.

Fall Kills Wheaton Man When on Visit in East

Joseph Vacca, 114 West Roosevelt road, Wheaton, was killed yesterday when he fell 30 feet from a garage platform adjoining a railroad station in Leechburg, Pa, as he was waiting for a train to return home. He had been visiting relatives there. He was a brakeman for the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin railway. He leaves his widow, two sons and a daughter.

SHOT TO DEATH IN FIGHT.

James B. Crump, 30 years old, colored, was shot and killed yesterday in a fight in front of 5113 Indiana avenue. He lived at 1346 East 47th street. Police arrested Joe Santago, 28, colored, of 4420 South Park way. They said that Santago shot Crump after Crump had stabbed him.

HOLD CHURCHILL BARED SECRET OF NEW BATTLESHIP

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP).—In the opinion of naval commentators, Prime Minister Churchill disclosed a jealously guarded naval secret in his broadcast tonight when he said his Atlantic voyage to the meeting with President Roosevelt was made in "almost the newest" British battleship, the Prince of Wales. If the Prince of Wales is no longer the newest, the honor would belong to the battleship Duke of York, the third 35,000 tonner of the George V. class, never previously mentioned as in service. Two other battleships of that class are scheduled to be finished this year.

Fog, Ally of Russians, Sets In on North Front

MOSCOW, Aug. 25 [Monday] (AP).—Intermittent rain and fog—allies upon which the Russians are depending strongly to help stem the German invasion—set in over the week-end on some parts of the long front, especially in the north, where the battle for Leningrad is in full fury. Autumn is due next month, and it usually brings a two month period of rains before snow flies.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 24 (AP).—Naval combat motor boats developed from craft built to take Louisiana oil well drillers and fur trappers thru shallow bayous and over sand bars today demonstrated how a hostile coast could be invaded.

Thirty surf landing boats carried sailors and marines to landings on the sandy shore of Lake Pontchartrain before a crowd of more than 15,000 persons.

Most interested spectator was Andrew Jackson Higgins, who developed the craft.

Beaverbrook Back Home; Confers with Churchill

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP).—Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, returned to Britain today after conferences in Washington, D. C., on United States aid. He saw Prime Minister Churchill after coming from a Scottish base where he was landed by a ferry command plane.

ERROR DEPRIVES 2D ARMY TROOPS OF MALARIA DRUG

Supply Missent, Leaving 60,000 Unprotected.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Second Army Field Headquarters, Prescott, Ark., Aug. 24.—Most of the 75,000 soldiers engaged in 2d army war maneuvers in this steaming hot area of southwestern Arkansas are being forced to go without protection against malarial fever because of a mistake in the shipment of $75,000 worth of anti-malaria drug intended for their use, it was revealed today. Among the troops deprived of the protection are the 18,000 men of Illinois' 33d division.

Map locates Ouachita river valley.

At present only a small supply of the malaria antidote—atabrine, a drug with properties similar to quinine—is on hand at army headquarters and service units which arrived here before the main body of troops. Also, scores of high officers attached to the 2d army as umpires or observers are receiving treatment from the limited supply.

Combat Troops Deprived.

Strangely enough, the men and officers being deprived of the drug are those most in need of its protection. These are the combat troops who, because they spend so much of their time "fighting" in the heavy timber and swamp lands of the area, face the greatest risk of contracting the disease, which is spread by the bite of an infected mosquito.

Troops of the combat units number upward of 60,000 men. It was not explained why the atabrine on hand was not given to them, instead of being distributed to men of headquarters and service units, who face less danger of infection.

To date, only two cases of malaria have been reported, according to Col. Paul W. Gibson, chief surgeon of the 2d army. It was explained that the area where the maneuvers now are being conducted, north and west of Prescott, has relatively little of the disease, altho it still is dangerous territory.

Valley Region Infested.

Late next week, however, units of the 2d army will begin moving down into the Ouachita river valley, southeast of Prescott. This valley is infested with the fever, it was said.

A statement issued today by 2d army headquarters, where officers apparently are much concerned about the shortage, promised that the missing atabrine will arrive and be distributed before the troops move into the Ouachita valley.

The headquarters statement also explained how the $75,000 shipment went astray. Instead of being sent directly from the eastern manufacturer to army headquarters here, the drug supply for some unexplained reason was sent to the army depot at St. Louis, Mo.

After some delay, it was sent on from that depot, and now supposedly ie enroute to Prescott by freight.

AS FARMER SEES WAR: VOLUNTEER HERO IS A FOOL!

Doubts England Would Give Us Help.

comin' over here." Here the colonel leaned forward in great glee. "I just wish," he said, giving his thigh a hearty slap, "I had assurance of stayin' here—my family and me—until we was bombed. Listen, you'd see the whitest headed ol' man on a cane you ever did see.

"Why, some people think the war will last six or eight years. It can't. It's like big farmin'. You can plow the whole country up in six months."

Draws a Wilson Parallel.

"People 'round here think we ought to get in the war?" he was asked.

"Nope," came his quick reply. "Not in this country. Not 1 in 10. There might be oncet in a while one that would want it lookin' for a boom, but, say, we're goin' in, just like we did with Wilson. Wilson made a song to keep us out of war and we were fightin' before the ink got dry on the song.

"Well, I was in that first draft, but I had two brothers in it, too, so they left me home to run the farm. One died in Camp Funston. The other had meningitis and lost his voice. They brought one of my brothers home in a mee-tallic coffin, and they sent the other one home still sick, so my sister got meningitis and died.

"I don't think anything was gained in that other war. I think the fellow who stuck his neck out and volunteered to be a hero was a fool. He wasn't respected when he got back. They made them think a lot of 'em could be congressmen and big people when they got back. They didn't."

Has Three Dislikes.

Here the colonel digressed to speak of gypsies, deacons, and politicians. Since childhood, he has disliked all three. "Gypsies you look and deacons you listen," he explained, "and they'll both bust you every time."

"And I've always been disgusted with politicians," he said politely. "They'd eat the best rounds of ham and steak. I was 18 years old before I knew a chicken had anything but a neck when there was a congressman or a preacher around.

"Now I was raised a Democrat," he explained swiftly, "but I think there's just about as many rascals in that denomination as you can find. If one side runs it a long time, you'll get corrupt. You've gotta switch this thing back and forth.

"What do people think about the draft extension?" he was asked.

"Why, everybody's opposed to it in my opinion.

"Think the government made a mistake ever settin' a time. I think this time settin' is pore business in anything. . . . I figure war business is just like farm business. There is no pud'n [pudding] by gettin' in early. . . .

"Back in that other war we had some people didn't have any boys. They was sellin' $21 hogs and $21 cattle. Then when the war was over, they signed that farm program sayin' we got to have government help. If they was partners when hogs was $21 a hundred [pounds], they should have been partners when they was $3 a hundred. The other way, you get the 'dole.'"

Short of Farm Labor.

Here the colonel stopped to supervise the unloading of his sheep. He returned flowing with musings about the present shortage of farm labor due to the preparedness effort.

"Can't get dependable fellows. They take the harness off on the top instead of the bottom. Had one like that. Another hand started to show him how. I said, 'Don't show him anything. His head's on his bottom.'

"Got a hand the other day. He was standin' on a load of hay and asked for a match to light a cigaret. I said, 'I'll give you no match while you're up there.' He said, 'I wanta smoke.' I said, 'Man, get down and get on the road where you'll prosper.' That's what you gotta put up with."

Ignorant of Washington.

"Half of 'em don't know what's goin' on," he said. "Other half would be better off if they didn't know. That's just what I've got against the radio. It's just that more worry. Now take this matter of rain. Turn on radio at 6 in the mornin' and some man says 'Hot winds in Iowa, drouth in Illinois, dry spell comin' for Missouri.' Why before that, every time you saw a cloud, you could take hope.

"Most of the farmers here don't care what happens down there. The others can't understand. A farmer's got to look out for himself," turning his eyes toward his fields of heavy, green corn, "and he's got to stay on the job to do it.

"Listen," he said with a sudden slap of his thigh. "You know what this all is? Big business is wantin' to keep the people skeered. Big business has to keep little business skeered so big business can go on.

"Take the automobiles. I always say there'll be cars when you're out of cash. Why, automobiles are 33-35 per cent over-sold to what they should be. We've got people in this town that works everyday. They just strains themselves to get cars, but they never make a move to make a home.

"It's always been. The big fish in the seas eats up the minnows. It's just big business. Big salesmanship. I'm surprised we haven't been in the war already.

Roosevelt, "Big Business."

"Old Brother Roosevelt is big business. Don't you worry. Yes, he's a spender. Never was such a spender before. You watch, it's the big men will wear the diamonds when it's over.

"That's why I say there's no use gettin' excited about it. I've done got over that. Just big business is doin' it, and you've got to knuckle down to it. They make all the skeery tales."

The colonel lapsed into silence. He looked at his watch. Eleven forty-five. Time to go home for noon dinner. "You, Jim," he called. "Whip off some of that corn and put it in the truck. . . . Might as well feed it to the cattle before the drouth gets it," he said in an aside.

"Well," as he turned to leave, "nice to have met you. What I wonder, tho, is just what that conversation between Roosevelt and Churchill cost us taxpayers. Settin' out in all them fine boats in all that water. Could of helped our drouth a lot, all that water."

JOHN WARNER TALKS ABOUT BALDNESS

In a talk over the radio, John E. Warner, the nation's leading scalp specialist, said: "Take care of your hair while you have it, for baldness is a permanent condition. Nearly every day I am asked to grow hair for someone who has waited too long—and, of course, I have to tell such individuals that I can't help them. To the man who is losing his hair I can, in such cases as I accept, be sure of saving and improving the hair through progressive steps of medication and treatment."

Statistics show that as much as 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness, such as dandruff, itchy scalp and excessive falling hair—you should consult John E. Warner Associates without delay.

There is no charge or obligation for a scalp examination and consultation. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. The new Chicago office of the John E. Warner Associates is located at 36 S. State, North American Bldg., N. W. corner of State and Monroe, Suite 1320-24. Phone Central 1451, hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily, Saturdays to 6 P. M.

There is a separate department for women. Other Warner offices located in Boston, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Detroit.

Terrorists Challenge New Reprisal Edict.

VICHY, France, Aug. 24 (AP).—Anti-Nazi terrorists were reported today to have wrecked an automobile full of Germans near Paris in the first challenge to the German army to carry out its threat of shooting hostages for such acts.

The car was smashed when it sped into a cable stretched across a street at night in Puteau, one of the "Red ring" of working class suburbs about Paris, reports from the former capital said. The German occupants were said to have been injured. The terrorists escaped.

This was the first reported act against German troops since Lieut.-Gen. Von Schaumburg, commander of occupation forces, announced Saturday that all French held by or for German authorities in France would be hostages for the safety of German soldiers.

"Gravity" to Fix Number Shot.

The order provided that in case of a "criminal act" against the troops "a number of hostages corresponding to the gravity of the act committed will be shot."

Reports from occupied France said guards had been drafted among the civilian population to protect the railroads against sabotage attempts.

Fernand de Brinon, Vichy's representative in Paris, said there had been five acts of sabotage against railways in that area alone in the last two weeks. He appealed particularly to railroad workers not to endanger "thousands of lives" by sabotage.

The last message of Marshal Philippe Petain calling for collaboration with the Germans, De Brinon declared, was well received by French and German circles.

News of the new anti-German incident was received in Vichy as French Interior Minister Pierre Pucheu released a statement charging that communist disorders were planned to paralyze the government by provoking German reprisals.

He charged that communist leaders were acting under orders of the Kremlin to create a state of tension and declared "we will be pitiless" in hunting them down.

Solve Dormoy Bomb Slaying.

Pucheu announced solution of the bomb slaying of Socialist Leader Marx Dormoy and of the bombing of a Vichy synagogue but termed them much less important than anti-German acts.

He said six persons were involved in the slaying of Dormoy on July 25 and that three of them subsequently had been killed when a bomb one of them was carrying exploded at Nice Aug. 14.

A CITIZEN STANDS UPON HER RIGHTS IN HER BARE FEET

Policemen Donald Keevers and William Lyman of the central station took a cue from bandits who seize their victims' clothing in arresting an attractive young woman last night. They took her shoes off.

The woman, about 30 years old, had been standing on the Dearborn street bridge until the bridge tenders, fearing she might leap into the river, called the police. She refused to move, announcing that as a taxpayer she paid the policemen's and bridge tenders' salaries and could stand on the bridge as long as she wished.

Keevers and Lyman forcibly put her into the patrol wagon, but she jumped out and ran. They put her back in. Again she escaped. Again they caught her. This time they took off her shoes and challenged her to run. She gave up. She refused to give her name, but said she is a granddaughter of "a sheriff." She said she'll give her name and defend her bridge standing rights, with or without shoes, in court today.

62 U. S. RABBIS BACK HOOVER'S FOOD AID PLAN

Call It a Duty to Feed Conquered People.

New York, Aug. 24 [Special].—Sixty-two rabbis, representing 24 states, made public today a statement approving the food relief plan proposed by former President Herbert Hoover thru the National Committee on Food for the Small Democracies.

In a statement explaining their position, the Jewish leaders said they are confident some plan can be worked out to save the peoples of Europe from starvation without affecting the military situation or the British blockade, which has been a stumbling block for all efforts to get food and medical supplies into the countries overrun by the Nazis. The Hoover plan, for American supervised soup kitchens, they said, appears the most feasible.

Warns Against Indifference.

"The state of unlimited emergency which the President has proclaimed cannot blind us to human needs and should not stifle our humanitarian impulses," said the statement. "This is a truism which our national administration itself would affirm. And yet there is the danger that, in concentrating upon the program of action which has been mapped out for them, our people may overlook duties not incompatible with that program and still meriting our attention.

"We, as religious leaders, cannot be indifferent to the suffering that, in increasing measure, is the lot of the innocent civilian population of western Europe. We recognize the practical problems involved in any effort to bring food to Belgium and other stricken areas, and we also recognize that segment of American opinion which fears that help to starving civilians may mean aid to the Nazis.

Comment Committee's Work.

"But we are confident that some plan can be worked out which will save the lives of women and children, and which will not materially affect the military situation.

"We recommend our approval of the quiet, courageous way in which the National Committee on Food for the Small Democracies has striven to carry out the mission entrusted to it, working to win support for its proposals without entering the realm of political controversy or using those methods of intense campaigning which might evoke debate and stir up unwanted prejudices.

"We regret that, despite this fact, the committee has been the target for unjustified attacks.

"In the name of the God and Father of all men, and of our common humanity, we commend the work of the National Committee on Food for the Small Democracies in the blessed effort it is making."

Chicagoans Among Signers.

Among those who signed the statement are:

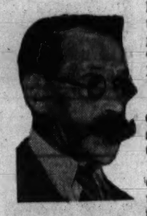
Former President Tells Country's Plight.



Antanas Smetona.

Antanas Smetona, former president of Lithuania, last night sought aid here for the tortured little republic which first was engulfed by Russian occupation and then overrun by the Germans. He spoke before 15,000 Americans of Lithuanian ancestry attending their annual folk festival in the in the Riverview picnic grove.

Smetona was chief executive of Lithuania for more than 20 years until June, 1940, when Russia seized the country and attempted to communize it.

"Right up to the eve of the Russo-German war, peaceful residents were mercilessly seized by the Reds," Smetona said. "Without a chance to take along food or clothing for the future, they were stuffed like animals into freight cars, sealed in, and deported to the depths of Russia."

War Means More Suffering.

Unless aid reaches these exiles soon, the majority will die, Smetona said.

When war broke out between Germany and Russia, it meant still more suffering for the Lithuanians.

"The Red army, encountering the revolting Lithuanians, slew political prisoners and burned everything which stood in its way as it retreated from the country," Smetona said. "A number of cities and towns, villages, and settlements, were leveled to the ground.

Hospitals Taken Over.

"About 150,000 residents were left homeless, penniless, without food, without any possessions. Their homes are burned, their families broken up, children do not find their parents. There is no one to attend the sick, for the retreating Reds seized and abducted the physicians, while the hospitals were taken over by the new occupants, the Germans."

Huge Log Cast Up by Wave Kills California Woman

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 24 (AP).—A huge redwood log, part of a lumber raft which broke up south of the Golden Gate last month, came spinning out of the surf at Sharp park beach today and crushed to death Miss Margaret Wilken, 24, who was walking along the sands.

SLASHES NECK OF STORE OWNER.

NUDE SWIMMERS HESITATE ABOUT LEAVING WATER

Park Policeman Robert McLennan had considerable difficulty early yesterday in persuading three swimmers—two women and a man—to leave the water at the 63d street beach. The fact that all had neglected to wear bathing suits, McLennan said, probably contributed to their shyness.

During the hour that McLennan spent luring the three swimmers from the water, two park district squads supervised the dressing of two other women and three men who said they were "just lounging on the beach," and whose dishabille ranged from partly dressed to undressed. The swimmers, who emerged from the lake after McLennan threatened to call the coast guard, identified themselves as Miss Joyce Mitchell, 31 years old, 6121 Ellis avenue, Miss Betty Perkins, 30, 6123 Ellis avenue, and John Mackin, 30, of 2014 West 68th street.

Those in the beach party identified themselves as Miss Marian Pehler, 25, of 4539 Lake Park avenue; Miss Vivian O'Rourke, 24, 4539 Lake Park avenue; James Steinhart, 30, 2014 West 68th street; Allen Trakas, 20, 6330 Greenwood avenue, and Fletcher Duryea, 27, of 7201 Rhodes avenue. All will appear in Women's court today charged with disorderly conduct.

Garage Mechanic Burned When Auto Tank Explodes

Everett Grasser, 26 years old, 4827 Cornelia avenue, a garage mechanic, was burned seriously yesterday when the gas tank of a car exploded in a garage at 3920 Kedvale avenue, showering him with flaming gasoline. In the resulting fire an estimated $15,000 damage was done to the building and 12 automobiles which were destroyed. Alfred Purmal, 24, of 5555 North Parkside avenue, was burned and cut by flying glass from the explosion, but injured less seriously.

616 BOOKS GET 'CLOSE' ORDERS IN STATE DRIVE

All Except 24 Are Within City's Limits.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Attorney General George F. Barrett yesterday listed 616 addresses at which his investigators found horse race handbook operators and served them with legal notice to quit or be cited for contempt of court. All except 24 of the addresses were within Chicago. The existence of several chain store books was disclosed.

The telephone company was asked to discontinue serving the persons named at the addresses given, Barrett asserted, and it was presumed that the gamblers had lost their wire service, altho police said many of them since have obtained new telephone connections.

Act Under Injunction.

The attorney general's activities concerning local gambling followed the issuance of an injunction last December by Judge Maurice V. Joyce of Belleville, Barrett explained. Judge Joyce acted on a petition filed by Barrett's predecessor, John E. Cassidy, which alleged that a statewide conspiracy to violate the gambling laws existed. The court's attention also was called to the activities of the old Capone syndicate in Chicago.

Barrett's list of places at which the injunction notice had been served and from which he sought to bar telephone service contained many names of gangster associates and subordinates of Capone and Frank [the Enforcer] Nitti, present boss of the syndicate. Several reported to have been operating syndicate books of their own or for politician-gambler groups were listed. They were grouped by neighborhoods, as follows:

L. Hall, at 11 addresses, as follows: 530 East 47th street, 5736 Prairie avenue, 120 East Garfield boulevard, 205 East 37th street, 4708 Calumet avenue, 5006 South Park way, 4257 South State street, 459 East 43d street, 5921 South State street, 4824 South State street, and 5020 South Michigan avenue.

H. Lewin, with 12 addresses, as follows: 1137 East 47th street, 6246 Kimbark avenue, 4706 South Park avenue, 4312 Indiana avenue, 68 East Garfield boulevard, 5851 South State street, 6824 South Chicago avenue, 1325 East 53d street, 513 East 63d street, 1464 East 67th street, 370 East 61st street, 313 East 61st street.

W. Rand, at nine addresses, as follows: 7515 Exchange avenue, 2535 East 79th street, 2870 East 79th street, 7139 Yates avenue, 7114 Jeffery avenue, 8500 Burley avenue, 1744 East 75th street, 8930 South Shore avenue, and 261 East 75th street.

Harry Russell, at five addresses, as follows: 19 West Lake street, 24 East Lake street, 224 North State street, 190 North State street, and 188 North Clark street.

G. May, at five addresses, as follows: 3140 West 63d street, 8658 South Ashland avenue, 8647 South Racine avenue, 5945 South Kedzie avenue, and 6544 South Cicero avenue.

Listed at Different Places.

Several bookmakers were listed at two different addresses. Some of the places visited by the investigators, it was said, were sneak spots to which the gamblers repaired when police visited the main book. A duplication of names for the same address might indicate that the persons named were members of the same syndicate or operated the places at different times, it was explained.

Evidence Seized by Raiders

300 VIEW BODY OF ROGERS PARK MURDER VICTIM

The number of persons who have viewed the body of the Rogers Park girl murder victim increased yesterday to 300. There were several more tentative identifications but police had no confidence in them. The girl's body was found early Thursday near the North Western railroad tracks and Greenleaf avenue. She may have been strangled elsewhere and brought to this spot, police said. The girl was about 25 years old, weighed 120 pounds, had smooth brown hair, and brownish gray eyes.

WARNS EX-CZAR OF UNION NEEDS MISSING RECORDS

Assistant State's Attorney William B. Crawford said last night he had been informed that Max Caldwell, former bootlegger and ousted labor czar, had destroyed the records of the finances of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association. If so, Crawford said, Caldwell left himself without a defense to expected indictment for looting the union's treasury because he couldn't prove, without records, that he ever put back money he was known to have taken from the union, Crawford said.

A police detail was stationed over the week-end at the Mutual National bank, 7844 South Halsted street, where a second of Caldwell's safe deposit boxes was discovered Saturday. Crawford said he does not expect to find any money or valuables in it, as he did in the other Caldwell box, but thought there might be important records in it.

Crawford said the safe deposit box discoveries were of major importance in furnishing evidence for possible criminal prosecution and in the suit for an accounting filed against Caldwell by the unionists who threw off the Caldwell yoke a few months ago.

DEMANDS O'BRIEN CLEAN UP COUNTY HIGHWAY POLICE

Crime Board Chairman Hits Healy's Pledge.

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien was urged yesterday to waste no more time in cleaning up the county highway police department. The prompting came from Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission.

Cahn was not pacified by the resignation of Chief Lester Laird on Friday, after THE TRIBUNE photographed Laird dining in the Drake hotel Thursday night with William R. Skidmore, reputed big boss of the gambling racket. Skidmore is under a 2½ years sentence to federal penitentiary for income tax fraud.

Healy's Testimony Recalled.

Nor was Cahn content with Sheriff O'Brien's temporary appointment of Sergt. John J. Healy as Laird's successor. At the Skidmore trial Healy testified that he drove Laird to the gambling boss' junkyard office five or six times a month.

Acting Chief Healy left a remark for the citizenry to puzzle over before he vanished to a place of refuge for the week-end.

"I'm going to carry out the policies of this office as Lester Laird did in the past," he said. "We'll continue to keep after gamblers."

Asked what this meant, Chief Healy said he didn't know. But the crime commission president feared that the meaning was only too plain.

Says Chief Condemns Self.

"Acting Chief Healy appears to be condemning himself when he says he will follow Laird's policies," Mr. Cahn declared. "Certainly it interferes with his possible usefulness in enforcing the law. However, he worked with Laird for years and we can only make natural deductions from that fact."

The briefest time limit possible should be placed on this "temporary" appointment, Cahn said. Sheriff O'Brien could not be reached to ascertain whether he will follow this recommendation.

JEWELRY WORTH $32,500 ADORNS THE 'BRIDE OF 1941'

Model Trudy Marshall, arrayed in a wedding dress and $32,500 worth of jewelry, proved an attractive exhibit as the "Bride of 1941" when the combined national conventions of the National Association of Credit Jewelers and American National Retail Jewelers association opened yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. She wore a $9,000 pearl necklace, a $15,000 diamond bracelet, and an $8,500 "orchid" of diamonds and emeralds.

ROOSEVELT INTRODUCES NAZIISM.

Within less than a week the private lives of the American people and their personal business will be under another new Nazi control. Instalment buying, a commercial process which has enabled millions of people to increase the comforts and conveniences of life by deferred payments, will be subject to rules laid down by the federal reserve board.

Mr. Marriner Eccles, the chairman, becomes the ice box and vacuum cleaner fuehrer. Mr. Roosevelt, having given himself authority, gave Mr. Eccles authority, and Mr. Eccles has issued the edict, effective Sept. 1, establishing three classifications of commodities, specifying the minimum to be paid down on each one, and dictating that the instalments may not cover more than 18 months.

If the householder wants a washing machine, refrigerator, sewing machine, radio, or other designated article in the first class, a 20 per cent minimum must be paid down. On furnaces, stokers, water heaters, air conditioning systems, and attic ventilating fans, 15 per cent must be shoved across and 10 per cent is required on new household furniture, bed springs and mattresses, pianos, wall paper, draperies, and bed coverings.

The new deputy fuehrer has thought of nearly everything that enters the household and has covered it with his orders. A two-fold purpose is alleged as justification for this fantastic extension of the reserve board's control of credit in peacetime: one, to restrict purchasing power as a curb on inflation and, the other, to reduce the production of articles requiring materials said to be needed for armaments.

Two other reasons can be supplied. One is to add a new Nazi control over American life, and the other is to make the country war conscious. The American totalitarians think they have the people in an awkward fix. They think that resentment against governmental interference in private life and private business will be suppressed by the idea that a national emergency requires extraordinary measures which should have willing acceptance. Emergency and sacrifice are the twin words which are to undermine the American system of free enterprise and restricted government.

The instalment buying rules of the federal reserve board, issued under assumption of authority, may not in themselves be unreasonable. The average buyer and the average seller probably will find that the prevailing practices have been incorporated in the edict. The pertinent fact is that it is an edict even if it only recognizes the established trade procedure. Here was a chance for the totalitarians to get themselves deeper into the private affairs of the citizens and, in keeping with the program of the persons whose slogan is "Remake America," the opportunity was seized.

We have Deputy Fuehrer Eccles dictating in instalment buying. Deputy Fuehrer Ickes is trying to say how much gasoline shall go in the tank. Deputy Fuehrer Leon Henderson is getting tough with prices, even before a price control bill is passed, and says he will get tougher. His slogan is: "You're not going to like it, but you're going to take it." Other deputy fuehrers are depriving producers of the raw materials they need and with mock regret they say they fear that little business will disappear in America. With more mock regret they refer to millions of unemployed because of closed factories. Apparently, they seek to drive all business into big business and then take that over.

Senator Byrd of Virginia has gathered the facts to prove that the war makers are not producing war materials, and other disclosures reveal that the denial of materials to factories engaged in other production are not justified by conditions. That leaves the American Nazis to prove that they are not actuated equally by a desire to get a war and a desire to gain complete control of the country.

THANK YOU, BUT DON'T.

A number of readers who have learned of the communist campaign to boycott THE TRIBUNE have written to us, offering to buy several copies of this newspaper each day to make up for any loss we may suffer. As an evidence of confidence and approval these letters are deeply appreciated, but we must urge our friends not to buy more copies than they have been buying. Our circulation is growing and is pressing toward the limits of our productive capacity. The newspapers which are in need of help—and aren't getting it from readers or advertisers—are the war mongers.

MAJ. GEN. CHAFFEE.

Maj. Gen. Adna Chaffee, whose task in recent years has been the organization and training of an armored force for the United States army, is dead at the age of 57. He was an officer of force and ability. Fully 10 years ago he had forecast with great accuracy the successes which would be achieved by the army with the best tank corps, but unfortunately his foresight was regarded by the routineers as the product of excessive enthusiasm. They wrote him down as a visionary. He lived long enough to know that they were wrong and he was right.

Gen. Chaffee's death is attributed to overwork. It seems fair to conclude that the task of organizing the armored divisions and training them is heavier than a man at 57 should be asked to carry. The strain of leading armored columns in the field is even greater, for to the mental and nervous drain must be added the physical exhaustion which comes from week after week of rapid movement in uncomfortable vehicles over difficult country. In our army few men rise to general's rank until they are well into their fifties, which is to say until they are too old for exhausting service in the field.

Gen. Chaffee was an able and gallant officer. It is to be hoped that his untimely death will be regarded as a sufficient sacrifice to the theory of seniority, and that his successor will be a man whose age will be more nearly appropriate to the duties which he will be obliged to carry.

A SHORTAGE, BUT NOT OF GAS.

Some members of congress have reached the conclusion that the gasoline shortage is synthetic and that there is actually plenty of juice for every one. They assert that the gas curfew and the 10 per cent cut in deliveries to eastern service stations are deliberately planned morale builders, like the aluminum pot and pan collection, to make everybody feel that he is doing without something for the national good. A member of the President's party, Senator Francis Maloney of Connecticut, is pushing an investigation to determine "if there is an actual shortage or if we are being pushed around for psychological reasons."

The explanation of the inadequacy of gasoline stocks in the east is familiar to all. The east has been getting its supply of oil from the southwest via the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic ocean. The government, it is said, has turned over to the British 50 of the tankers which operated on this route to replace ships blown up in the Atlantic.

However, several eastern newspapers, especially the New York News and the Wall Street Journal, have recently pointed out that Great Britain needs only 250 tankers for war purposes, and that she actually has 800, after making deductions for those sunk. They declared that Britain is in the fortunate position of having 60 per cent more oil carrying capacity than at the outset of the war as a result of acquiring 400 tankers from Belgium, Norway, Holland, and France. If this is true, and there has been no denial of the allegations, the British have no need for the 50 tankers already released to them, nor for the others shortly to be turned over. We seem to have given up tankers to the British, not because the carrying capacity was needed by Britain, but to create a shortage here.

The reduction in our oil tonnage is bound to affect supplies here. But persons in the government in charge of oil control have been trying to make the supply situation worse than it is. They have been putting out sensational releases about dwindling oil stocks, which do not find support among petroleum authorities. Ralph K. Davis, acting petroleum coördinator for national defense, got on newspaper front pages last week with a statement that the supply of gasoline in the east had dropped 893,000 barrels in a single week. He was glum about the prospect for motorists in the east.

If the purpose of Mr. Davis had not been to alarm, he would have noted that, according to the authoritative National Petroleum News, the supply of gasoline in the east had been increasing despite the loss of tankers. He would have pointed out that on Aug. 9 there was actually more gasoline in storage in the east than at the same time a year ago. He would have emphasized that this satisfactory situation as to total supplies developed at a time when consumption was due for a seasonal decline. The bureau of mines has just forecast that the demand for motor fuel in the country in September will fall to 60.2 million barrels from 64.7 millions in August.

Even that ace of war mongers, Mr. Ickes, who has endeavored to make the gasoline picture as dark as possible, is willing to admit that there is plenty of gasoline in the country. He has hung the shortage upon inadequate transportation. But even that explanation of the yarn is unavailable. Mr. J. J. Pelley, president of the American Association of Railroads, pointed out Thursday that there are 17,557 idle railroad tank cars, which could carry 200,000 barrels of oil or gasoline daily to the east, or 1,400,000 barrels a week. Mr. Davis mentions 893,000 barrels as the shortage which caused his grave concern.

The congressional investigation should proceed to bring out all the facts about the gas supply along the Atlantic seaboard. If a real shortage should develop, the government would only have to mobilize the railroad tank cars and establish reduced trainload rates, as we have so often suggested in these columns.

The facts seem to be quite clear without an investigation. There isn't any shortage of gasoline, nor of the means to distribute it about the country. The only shortage seems to be of sentiment for entering the war.

HANS BERGER.
[New York Times.]

Of late years we have heard much of "brain waves," more grandly called electroencephalograms by the neurologists. Hans Berger of Jena, the man who discovered and applied them, is dead. The belated news of his passing deserves some comment because of the high importance of his work.

It was known even before the last century that the tissues of the body have their electrical properties. Who does not remember Galvani's classic experiment with frogs' legs? But what of the brain? Berger exposed it, tested it with sensitive measuring instruments and saw indicating needles swing significantly. When the vacuum tube was first used by Sir Charles Sherrington and E. D. Adrian in England to study the transmission of nervous impulses, Berger saw his opportunity. Here was an amplifying instrument that could make the ticking of a watch sound like the blows of a pile driver and the walking of a fly like galloping cavalry. Berger used it in his studies of the brain and succeeded in recording waves—big waves and little waves, fast waves and slow waves. He saw their meaning and laid the foundation of a method of diagnosing emotional and mental disorders—a method which has been highly developed in this country.

What electrocardiography has done for the study of the heart electroencephalography is doing for the study of the brain. It would be too much to maintain that guessing in diagnosing the brain's functional disorders is gone, but it is not too much to maintain that epilepsy can now be recognized in its incipient stages and that often the diagnostician has only to look at a tell-tale wave record to recognize the existence of a tumor where the X-rays reveal nothing.

Yet Berger's is the old story of a frustration, the story of Koch and his cholera and tuberculosis bacilli, the story of Pasteur, the story of every medical revolutionist. It was Adrian, himself a skeptic at first, who turned the tide for Berger. That great authority on nerves repeated Berger's experiments, confirmed them and began preaching the gospel of brain waves. Now the battle is won. Brain wave machines are to be found in many hospitals, and neurology takes another forward step.

NATIVE SONS, ARISE!

If Chicago had an Order of Native Sons, like San Francisco, the application blanks might contain the questions: "Did your father or grandfather ever take you to the Exposition building? Can you say offhand where that building was situated?"

Such a qualification, certainly not severe and containing no suggestion of snobbish pride in ancestry, would provide the order with a large and spirited membership of second and third generation Chicagoans, familiar with the greatest traditions of the old town. The Exposition building, built in 1873 on the present site of the Art institute, represented Chicago's swift rise to metropolitan stature after the fire. The city's great musical tradition was born there; several Presidential candidates were nominated there, and almost every Chicagoan of 60 years' residence or more has been inside the place, on pleasure bent.

A unique souvenir of the Exposition building is now in the Linemaster's hands, as a loan from Walter S. Holden. It is an album which he has prepared to pass on to his sons and grandchildren.

The frontispiece is a stock certificate showing that Mr. Holden's father, A. H. Holden, invested $100 in the Interstate Industrial Exposition of Chicago. It paid only one or two dividends and represents a contribution, made in civic pride, rather than an investment. It is embellished with an engraving of the vanished building.

An introduction follows, in which Mr. Holden gives an account of the Republican and Democratic national conventions of 1884, at which James G. Blaine and Grover Cleveland were nominated. Then a high school boy, he served as a page at both conventions and collected autographs of notable delegates, 68 in number, which make up the rest of the album. These signatures include the names of Theodore Roosevelt, William McKinley, Henry Cabot Lodge, Mark Hanna, Shelby M. Cullom, Joseph B. Foraker, Russell A. Alger, Wade Hampton, Edward S. Bragg, and Carter H. Harrison.

AN OLD SAILOR MUSES.

Does the wind still whine in the rigging
When the Sally sets to sea?
Is the canvas white in the moon's clear light
As it one time used to be?
Are the quartermaster and boatswain
As tough as they were before?—
Do the kitchen punks go off on drunks
Whenever they step ashore?
Does it rain as hard in the tropics
As it always used to do?
Do they cut her slow when they hit a blow
And reef in a sail or two?
Is jungle as lush in Jamaica
As I recall it to be?
Do the orchids grow? Do the trade winds blow
As they used to do for me?
Are the sequin stars still shining
Where the coral islands lie?
Are the mates still cursed with a dreadful thirst
When the nights are hot and dry?
Do the shores still rise in the dawn mist
To give you a thrill inside?
Does the surf pound in with terrific din
And then slip back with the tide?
O, sure, I suppose they can sail her
Without the likes of me—
But I'd like the feel of the pilot wheel
When the Sally sets to sea!

ATHLETE'S FOOT OR RINGWORM INFECTION.

WHEN we go for a stroll, the walk will be more enjoyable if the skin of the feet is free from infection. It is safe to say that most eruptions in this area come from ringworm. Of course, we know that a plant parasite and not a worm is the culprit. There are several types. One is supposed to be responsible for the white patches of soft dead skin between the toes, while another is blamed for the appearance of blebs [vesicles]. It is this latter species that seems to destroy the toenails so readily.

About the first symptom is the occurrence of raised, reddish spots on the instep, the sole, or near the heel. These lesions may itch and give rise to considerable irritation, later becoming filled with fluid. Still later, they will rupture and scale. After bathing, a substantial amount of lifeless cuticle may be removed.

Strangely enough, the infection is usually observed on one foot at a time. This is hard to explain as there is no such thing as a right and left stocking, and it would seem reasonable to expect that both feet would be attacked alike. Unless something is done, however, the disease will spread and the nails will finally become brittle, chalky, and markedly deformed.

As a rule, the trouble is confined to the neighborhood in which it first breaks out. Occasionally, however, the groin, the armpits, or even the chest may be involved. When blemishes appear in other parts of the body—for example, where the abdomen joins the thighs—inspection of the feet should always be made. Now and then a true eczema may arise because of sensitivity to the ringworm fungus.

The reason that the disorder is important to all of us is because it may influence health. Other bacteria may grow in the weakened epidermis and some difficulty with walking may be encountered. Our young people particularly should be examined carefully before they leave for school. But gymnasiums may also be considered breeding grounds, and many a lad will "blossom out" with the typical lesions shortly after his first contacts with sports, as the seeds of the fungus can live long about a shower room or a swimming pool. Walking about barefooted on wet or damp surfaces is never advised. Light sandals or slippers which are sterile should be employed always.

To prevent infecting other members of the family, separate towels and bathmats should be the rule. The tub itself should be scrubbed thoroly with boiling water after use. There should also be provided a daily change of hose, with the soiled pair boiled to avoid transfer of the organism to other articles in the laundry.

As shoes are likely to become contaminated, they may be sterilized by placing them in a tight box and exposing them to formaldehyde vapor. For this purpose, a formaldehyde candle is a useful device.

Among the scores of remedies, a simple prescription is a moderately strong solution of sodium hyposulfite. This is the "hypo" used by photographers and is cheap. Two or three tablespoonfuls may be dissolved in a basin of hot water and the feet soaked for 15 to 20 minutes twice daily.

If one is extremely curious about the cause, the physician can scrape a bit of material from a diseased region and demonstrate the mis-called "worm" under the microscope. The skin plaques can be teased apart, showing the threadlike snarls.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on athlete's foot, describing various plans of treatment.

Occasionally symptoms will approach mental instability. The family physician can suggest the necessary hormones and help restore a normal perspective. He also can explain to friend wife what is happening to her disposition. Her own sense of self-control should come to the fore. Forbearance is a rare and much sought after virtue.

COLORED TROOPS DOWN SOUTH.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—I read with considerable interest the story in your issue of Aug. 19 regarding the defense of the Negro troops in Arkansas by a white officer, and I want to express my appreciation of the fact that you published the story so fully. I also appreciate the way in which the officer attempted to protect the troops which he led.

This situation and others like it are very bad for the entire country and for the morale of the colored men serving in the army. Something should be done about it. If the war department and the administration cannot bring the four freedoms to this country and make the south safe for black troops in the United States uniform there seems little point in hoping that we can successfully take care of Mr. Hitler and his Nazi supporters.

I have three boys coming along, the oldest one now registered for service. He has never been south of the Mason-Dixon line and is now a student of Harvard university, having received his preparatory training at Phillips-Andover academy. Obviously he should make a first class soldier under the proper leadership, but it is equally obvious that this cannot happen in Arkansas or any other southern state. There are hundreds of young boys like him. It is not only stupid—it is cruel to put loyalty and patriotism to such a test—human nature cannot survive it. No white boy would survive it, I am sure, if the situation were reversed. A. L. JACKSON.

MORE WHITE COLLAR SALARIES.

Elmhurst, Ill., Aug. 21.—Having read the letters regarding white collar workers' salaries as paid by railroads and insurance companies, I wish to mention the situation in the brokerage field. The salaries are inadequate to meet the rising cost of living. Because this is now a depressed business, no salary raises are granted; yet you will find employés working as many as 60 hours a week with a peculiar system of paying for overtime. My figures: $40 divided by 40 hours is $1 an hour. Time and a half for 20 hours' overtime, $1.50 an hour, or $30, a total of $70. Munificent if it were only so! But as the employer figures it, the total would be $46.67 per week.

AUGUST JUDGES WHOOP HER UP.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—There seems to be no limit to the efforts of the war mongers to reach their ends. Tonight I heard, believe it or not, two members of the world's most august tribunal, the Supreme court of the United States, whooping her up for our people to insure the so-called four freedoms to the rest of the world.

I can see a complacent smile on bloody Joe Stalin's face these days. A. L.

BURNED IN RETALIATION.

Glencoe, Ill., Aug. 22.—Let me call M. Stephany's attention to this: The reason the British burned Washington on Aug. 24, 1814 was a retaliation, because the Americans when invading Canada had destroyed her capital and burned other towns.

I'm a true American patriot but when I see some one misinterpret American history I try to set out to correct them.

S. GIMBEL.

PIGS' DESCENDANTS.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—About three-quarters of a century ago one Charles Darwin suggested that man had sprung from the monkey. Be that as it may with reference to the majority of men, I have concluded that at least a small percentage of humans have sprung from the pig. Now that requires proof. I submit the following:

As one drives along the streets and boulevards of Chicago, or walks thru the parks, one sees endless litter strewn about, and recently I saw a city man and his wife drive along a public highway in the lake region of Wisconsin and throw two huge bundles of garbage out of their car, right onto the side of the road. Monkeys and their descendants would be more considerate of their fellows. Only pigs and their descendants would do such things. O. H. E.

PEOPLE HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW.

Murphysboro, Ill., Aug. 21.—THE TRIBUNE is to be congratulated—especially Chesly Manly for obtaining that story on the Roosevelt-Churchill conference. Why shouldn't the people of the United States be told what is going on behind their backs? It is their boys who went to camp. It will be their boys who will be sent across if Roosevelt isn't stopped!

We know there is no need of this vast army to defend our shores; we need a rather small mechanical force, but such a big army is to be kept to be butchered for England again. The parents of these boys will do something to cool this war craze of the Roosevelt régime; they will write to all the senators, representatives, and to the President. If that is not enough, there will be more steps taken.

FRANCE AN UNWILLING ALLY.

Chicago, Aug. 21. — When will well meaning, but misinformed individuals understand that the more they sympathize with the so-called Vichy government the more they help prolong the war? Most of us, Americans or French, wish to help the French people. We are all ready to do so the day we know that what we give is distributed to the French people and not shipped to Germany. Does Jeanne Mercier happen to know how much of the food and medicine sent by Americans was distributed to the French people? Well informed individuals claim no more than 20 per cent. The American government has been too lenient toward the Vichy government. It has been the best ally Hitler has had. The government of Vichy is writing the most tragic page of French history, against the will of at least 90 per cent of the French people.

FARMERS FIGHT SEIZURE OF LAND FOR ARMY CAMP

New Appraisal Demanded by Evicted Families.

Joplin, Mo., Aug. 24 [Special].—One hundred sixty-four families who live on 8,100 acres of improved farm land near here are being evicted by the government to provide a site for a 20 million dollar army cantonment.

Black area represents county in which camp will be built.

They are being evicted under condemnation proceedings heard by Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis of Kansas City.

Values ranging from $2.50 to $30 an acre for the land were set by federal appraisers in the condemnation suit. Many of the farmers affected said the values established are only half the actual value of the land. Others do not even know what value the government has placed on their homes.

New Appraisals Demanded.

The farmers have united in a fight—fruitless thus far—for new and equitable appraisals. Protests to congressmen have been futile.

The 8,100 acre site, together with 53,000 additional acres in the same locality, is to be used to house 17,000 soldiers. The area is in Newton county, approximately 25 miles south of Joplin. The war department agreed upon the site last May and a corps of surveyors and appraisers under the supervision of D. T. Beattie, land acquisition officer in Neosho, made an appraisal of property in the area.

Much of the area contains orchards, vineyards, and strawberry fields, and annually produces from $100 to $500 an acre in crops. Approximately 7,000 purebred Jersey cows are milked in the area. It has excellent roads.

Critics of the government program said that the case of Waldo Hatler, who owns 400 acres in the area, is typical. Hatler's land, which he values at $30 an acre, has been appraised at $10 an acre. He has 2,500 fruit trees and 1,000 walnut trees on his farm. Two hundred acres of the land are under plow and 70 acres are in clover.

Mortgage Value for Farm.

G. W. Hussey, who owns 36 acres containing an orchard, said his place was appraised at $700—the amount of a mortgage which is against it. He said he valued the place at $1,800.

"We love our homes as dearly as any people in the world," said E. A. Fowler, a spokesman for the evicted farmers. "Some of these homes have been in the same families since the first white man came to this area. The government has attempted to take our land for what it would bring at a forced sale. We demand a new appraisal. If this unhappy situation is corrected it will stimulate our confidence and our loyalty to our government.

"But if we are thrown out . . ." he shrugged his shoulders expressively.

EARLY RELEASE OF 28 YEAR OLD DRAFTEES ASKED

Attorney Harry A. Ash, chairman of Chicago draft board No. 142, yesterday made an appeal to the government to release all draftees 28 years old or over from the army as soon as possible instead of waiting until Dec. 10, as the war department has planned.

In a letter to Congressman Charles S. Dewey, Ash asked that the matter be taken up with the war department. He said there is "no sense" in keeping the men in service three and a half more months. Ash's plea was the result of a letter written to him by a 35 year old draftee at Fort Casey, Wash. The draftee explained he has an excellent job waiting for him and would like to return to civilian life as soon as possible.

The immediate release of the older men would save the government 50 million dollars in wages and ration money, Ash told Dewey, and would do much to improve the morale of the armed forces.

DRAFT BOARD HEADS ORDERED TO PROTECT JOBS OF EX-SOLDIERS

Brig. Gen. Hershey.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey today directed local draft officials to make certain draftees released from military service are "protected in their legal right to reemployment in civilian occupations."

Hershey said national selective service headquarters has planned that each local draft board appoint a reëmployment committeeman to see that returning soldiers regain their old jobs or get new ones.

The army announced last week that approximately 200,000 men might be out of uniform by Christmas. They would include men over 28 years of age, men on whom military service is a demonstrable economic hardship, and married men. Hershey said that under the draft law these men must be given back their jobs in private industry or business "unless the employer's circumstances have so changed as to make it impossible or unreasonable to do so."

CLERGYMEN URGE WISCONSIN FOLK TO GET OUT VOTE

Heavy Ballot Sought in 1st District Race.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 24—Churches in the first Wisconsin congressional district today urged their congregations to vote in the special election next Friday when a congressman will be chosen to succeed the late Stephen Bolles. In St. Rose Catholic church, Racine, the Rev. Father L. Garity said it was scandalous in a republic that only 20,000 of 140,000 registered voters respected their franchise enough to vote in the special primary election Aug. 8. The people who neglect the privilege of the vote do not deserve to enjoy it, he observed.

"It is every citizen's duty as well as privilege to take part in their government and their votes on election days are the way provided for them to take part." He declared. "It is their duty to elect men who have real Christian principles."

Warn Against Apathy.

Most of the church speakers merely emphasized the danger of a current trend toward political apathy.

They recommended no choice of candidates. Some of the Catholic churches republished in their parish weekly bulletins an editorial published last week in the Catholic Herald Citizen, the official paper of the Milwaukee archdiocese. It recalled the public approval given by Thomas Amlie, the Democratic candidate, for the Red cause in Spain.

The paramount issue in the congressional race is the war. Lawrence H. Smith, Racine attorney, the Republican candidate, is a bitter opponent of America's entrance in the war. Amlie is pledged to unquestioned support of President Roosevelt's war policy. Both have publicly declared that the war is the only issue, and it is generally agreed that a rousing victory for Smith will be a message from a typical midwestern district that the people are opposed to any war but one of defense in case of attack.

No Selfish Motive Seen.

Smith is a veteran of front line fighting in the first World war, and his only son is now in the army. His opposition to war is based, his intimates say, on patriotic principles. The service he has given and that his son is now giving is evidence that his opposition is not based on selfish or personal motives.

Amlie is a former member of congress from the 1st district, a member of the Progressive party until he split with the La Follettes in 1938 to run for the Progressive nomination for the United States senate. He was defeated in the senate primary by Herman L. Ekern, the choice of the La Follettes. Phillip La Follette, former governor, who has broken with President Roosevelt over his war program is opposing the Democratic candidate.

Both Smith and Amlie eased up on their campaigning today to get ready for the smashing final four days. Smith has the support of members of the American Legion who have undertaken to help in the task of getting out the vote Amlie's basic strength is expected to be the CIO union leaders of Racine and Kenosha and the New Deal office holders who helped promote his candidacy.

Hiding Your Figure Defects Is a Sign That You're Lazy

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

Does your figure flatter your clothes?

Clothes that make a fat woman seem thin, and vice versa, girdles that hold in a flabby abdomen, are false compensations for a physical inferiority, according to a stern psychologist. He points out that women seek garments to conceal their defects to save the trouble of reducing, gaining weight, or doing exercises.

It is rather amusing to think of a flattering frock as a false compensation. It is rather funny that a prized girdle should be condemned with a psychological term. Yet the psychologist's remarks are worth thinking about seriously.

None of us willingly admits she is an escapist. But often we do shop for flattering clothes to escape the trouble of slenderizing our hips or building up our chests by exercise. As long as we can buy a girdle to hold in our abdomen we don't make the effort to develop our muscles.

Naturally, no woman will forgo frocks that make her appear more attractive. A girdle on any figure does make skirts more trim. But in planning our new autumn wardrobe we would do well to consider how we can make our figures becoming to our clothes.

Chic, Dramatic, and Exciting Are the Words for Fall Hats

BY REA SEEGER.

Sensational showmanship in presenting new fall millinery marked one of the most successful previews recently. The glamorously beautiful mannequins under new hats rolling around the aisles on a tea wagon under a revealing headlight centered in the simulated hat box cover, the mannequin concealed, with only head and shoulders showing, brought down the house.

But that excitement didn't detract from the excitement over new headlines. American designers presented their early fall and winter creations. Berets, the kind that dip way down on the side or the kind that drop way down at the back, 1941 versions of the cloche with down curving brim in front, dashing brims dipped and turned to exact the most face flattery, were the highlights.

Fur used with same ease as fabric made some of the most breathtaking hat, small, high and exciting. . . . for instance the double circled affair of beautiful sable skins, or the red hat with a brim of silky opossum with a huge muff to match.

Snoods, enveloping wimples, much back drapery, knitted and crocheted materials in all colors and black make the greater portion of the new creations. New fabrics such as fuzzy velours, woolens, velvets, and even such ideas as 50 layers of chiffon are the news in materials.

And there are hats for definite occasions, hats for tweeds and tailored woolens, dress parade hats for afternoon and informal dinner clothes, dashing big hats, hats with frou frou, and feathers. You wear the correct hat to complete each costume. If you crave drama, picturesque chic, dramatic line and outline, see this fascinating early fall collection.

Fashion photograph. . . . One of the exciting new glove and hat sets for a slim simple foundation suit or dress. It or they, the three pieces, are made of white dotted velveteen. Extra long gloves reach the elbow, and the brand new beret is sharply divided at the back.

Glove and Hat Set for Fall

One of the sensational glove and hat sets featured in one of the early fall millinery showings. Dramatic long gloves are crushed smartly around the elbow. A divided at the back beret hangs well down over the shoulders and forms a frame for the face. The material used in both gloves and beret is white dotted velveteen.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

A friend of ours, a top makeup man in the movie colony, told us recently as he passed thru town that he thought street makeups in the middle west had improved considerably in the last four or five years. Less face rouge, for one thing, and fewer eyebrows that are plucked to a frazzle.

But what he couldn't get over was the strong impression that the average woman never thinks of her hair as a face frame, and thereby misses an important bet. Women who dress beautifully, and apply makeup artfully, and in every other respect make the most of the looks the Lord gave them, still fail to realize the important relationship between face and hair, he thinks.

In Hollywood, he says, hair grooming is as important as face grooming. The stars think as much about charging their locks with high luster as they do about corrective makeup.

All that's needed by middle western women to make them smoothly beautiful, he says, is hair as painstakingly glorified as their figures and their faces. A lovely face topped by unattractive hair is like an exquisite painting in an ugly and unsuitable frame. At least, those are his sentiments—and don't you think he's got something sound there?

2d Annual American Negro Song Festival in Soldiers' Field

The second annual American Negro Song festival was held yesterday afternoon in Soldiers' field under the sponsorship of public spirited colored organizations and individuals of Chicago. In the number and quality of the musicians, entertainers, and choral groups it presented, the festival was an impressive proof of the importance of the American Negro in the stage world.

Heading the list was the distinguished tenor, Roland Hayes. La Julia Rhea and Ethel B. Wise, sopranos, and William Franklin, baritone, also were heard in solos. Still another singer was the boy movie star, Bobby Brooks. Twelve year old Natalie Henderson played a movement of the Grieg Piano concerto, and the violinist, Eddie South, offered both a popular and a standard number.

The principal chorus had been assembled and was directed yesterday by J. Wesley Jones.

Adviser Rates Stepmothers as Noble Women

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

When I want to write about stepmothers, I always wish there were some other name by which to refer to the woman who marries a man with children by a former wife.

The word "stepmother" has an unpleasant connotation for virtually everybody. We have the wicked stepmothers who appear in fairy tales. "Stepmother" and "stepchild," I wish we had other names for them, because there are innumerable women who have won the lifelong love and respect of the children of their husband and who are called "mother" by choice. And there are, by that same token, innumerable boys and girls who have been happy under the care of their father's second wife. These women deserve more credit for doing their job well than do "born" mothers, because, besides lovingness, their position requires a special wisdom and tactfulness.

In talking of their nobility I'm overlooking one fact. It is this, that altho these wives love their stepchildren unselfishly and also do what they do from a sense of duty, to many of them this opportunity is heaven sent. Many women who have known they would never have babies find in a readymade little family the fulfillment of their longing for children. So both sides gain by the second marriage, the motherless children and the childless woman. Altho it is not an easy task, a woman who feels this combination of surging love and a high sense of obligation bids fair to be a successful stepmother.

ENGAGEMENTS

At a luncheon recently in Frankfort, Ky., Mrs. Pettit Cox announced the engagement of her daughter, Mary Quin, to Lieut. Kurt Reed Stoehr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Stoehr of North Avers avenue. The wedding will take place late in September in Frankfort. Lieut. Stoehr was graduated from St. John's Military academy in Delafield, Wis., and from Northwestern university. He is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., with the 1st armored regiment. After their wedding he and his bride will live in Fort Lewis, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stephens of Decorah, Ia., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcella Josephine, to Richard Emil Bey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bey of La Crosse, Wis. The wedding will take place on Sept. 8 in the Decorah Lutheran church. Miss Stephens is operation room supervisor at the Kirby hospital in Monticello, Ill. Her fiancé is a student pastor at the Faith Lutheran church in Chicago. After their marriage they will live in Minneapolis, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert A'Neals of Valparaiso, Ind., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lelila Pearl, to George W. Tittinger of Kansas City, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Tittinger of Woodland Park. The wedding is planned for Sept. 20 in the First Presbyterian church of Valparaiso.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

MEMORANDUM.

Kathleen hired a car at the airport and drove home. Toby came down the stairs as she put her key in the front door lock.

"I didn't expect you tonight, Kathleen. What a long day. Aren't you exhausted?"

"No. I couldn't get back fast enough. That prison! I can't wait to see Bill. We must rescue Hugo."

"Well, we're going to." Toby followed her into the living room, where she threw herself down on the gray and yellow sofa. "Did he tell you anything? Anything we could use, I mean?"

"'Fraid not. He won't talk. I'm still sure that that wounded wrist was torture. What do you think? But would he keep quiet for fear of that? What am I saying? I'm tired. That would be ridiculous, wouldn't it, Toby?"

"Maybe it wouldn't be, Kathleen. Torture must be awful. Bill says—"

"Good night! What are you now? An echo? Or a boy with a mind of his own? You used to have one, as I remember—and a very decisive one for your age."

Toby sat down on the end of the sofa.

"I guess I do sound like an echo, but how can I help it? At the moment, Bill has everything so well in hand."

"Has he? I hope that's true. That's just what I want to see him about."

"You can't, Kathleen. Not till he arranges a meeting. If some one saw him call here, it would certainly spoil everything. You certainly can't go and call on him at Mrs. Thornley's house."

Kathleen was startled. "Don't tell me he's there already!"

Toby smiled—a smile of affectionate pride in the conquering ingenuity of Bill.

"He sure is. He moved in yesterday. I don't know yet how he wangled it, but last night they brought him to the theater to see the play. He was sitting between them staring at us most of the time thru a pair of high power glasses, altho their seats were right up front."

"I'm sure that would be a great help, Toby."

"I was coming to that, Kathleen. Bill saw something. He wouldn't say what, but O, boy, was he pleased! Mrs. Thornley brought him into the club afterward and introduced him as her house guest, so, of course, he was introduced to all of us. He talked about the play and the acting so every one was kidded he knew all about the drama—which you'd almost think he does. And Carol and Maurice made a fuss over him in case he was a talent scout. He was friends with every one in no time at all. He gave me a look and I passed near him. He whispered, 'There's some damn funny business going on here. Get me all the dope you can on Mrs. Mount.'"

"Uh—uh." Toby got up and prowled the room with his hands in the pockets of his slacks. "I thought what you think. Where could Mrs. Mount fit in? But I don't argue with Bill any more. I do what he says. So I went around the back of the house and burgled her room of a few things while she was in the club drinking."

"What things, Toby?"

Quick and sensitive, she saw in his face that he was not being entirely frank with her.

Kathleen opened her mouth to express belief but thought better of it.

"When can I see Bill? I suppose you have a way of going on seeing him?"

"Sure. He's kept on his rooms at the hotel to do his work and get his mail there. He's hired a car from a drive-yourself place. He calls me on the phone here certain hours of the day, but we mustn't call him on Mrs. Thornley's telephone."

"Naturally. The Jessel sisters and Mrs. Mount," Kathleen worried aloud. "Now that does sound completely crazy."

Susan opened the door and peered in. She was in a gray dressing gown trimmed with black braid that looked like a legacy from Queen Victoria, and the top of her head bristled with tin curling pins. Kathleen turned round and laughed at her.

"What's this? Design for being rescued from a fire?"

"Now, Miss Kathleen, your grandma gave it to me. It's warm and decent and I hope you never come to anything worse. Do you expect me to dress in full afternoon regalia at this hour?"

"I don't expect you up at all," Kathleen soothed her. "I'm sorry I wakened you."

"Well, now I am awake, what would you like to eat? You'd better not drink coffee."

Kathleen was touched by her unselfish ideas of duty. "I had supper on the plane. I'll just have hot milk, and I'll get it myself—or Toby can get it, thank you."

Toby took the hint and went off to the kitchen. Susan, whose theories on the training of the young included encouraging a boy to be as useful in the house as a woman, did not stop him. She went upstairs with Kathleen and opened her cool, white bed for her. A delicious scent of pot-pourri rose from the smooth, fine linen sheets. Kathleen looked about the high, airy room with its fragrant cleanness and highly polished old furniture and exquisite modern color scheme. Her own dear, unique home. How she loved it and appreciated it.

"Susan, I feel guilty living like this while Hugo is in prison. He's grown so thin—but he's so brave about everything."

The old woman's face worked as if she wanted to cry and was determined not to.

"I'm devoted to you, Miss Kathleen. Indeed, I love you as if you were my child. I hope you know that."

Kathleen pulled her dress off over her head and looked at Susan.

"What's this you're trying to tell me?"

"It's about Mr. Lang. O, Miss Kathleen, can't you accept this awful thing that's happened—and begin all over again—you're so young and so pretty." Susan took Kathleen's dress from her and rolled it up in her agitation. "I mean, don't you see, darling child, you should try now to forget him?"

Kathleen took the faithful servant by the shoulders and looked searchingly into her eyes.

"Yes, I see. You think he did it. You do, now, don't you?"

Susan met her gaze honestly.

"Yes, Miss Kathleen, I do. But it isn't just an opinion, because he wouldn't talk, like all these other sheep that can't look farther than their noses. No, dear. While you were away I found something."

"Then show it to me. At once, please."

Susan hobbled across the carpet to Kathleen's bedroom book shelves and returned with a book. It was Hugo's book, "Summer Theaters in America," which he had lent to Jeanie.

"This is the book Mr. Toby left downstairs, that he got back from Mrs. Payson. I picked it up to put it away and this fell out of it."

Susan opened the book and handed Kathleen a closely written piece of paper torn from a cash-ruled notebook. It was apparently an account of some sort, an addition of dollars in two separate columns of figures. One column was headed HIM and the other ME. The column headed HIM amounted to $1,250 and the column headed ME amounted to $600, making $1,850 together, $50 more than the amount found in the tin tobacco box. Underneath the totals was written "return $11 to Hugo."

"Indeed, I've found something, Miss Kathleen."

Aug. 25, 1941.

Universal day—Communicate with friends and keep relationships on a friendly basis.

September—Those who are in a 5 year this year [according to your personal chart] ought to make the most of this coming month. Make all the changes you need to make now, and if some upsets come along that you were not counting on, just remember that you are to take them in your stride because this is the peak of your 5 year and it might be hectic. Keep your poise and balance, but be flexible and ready to change your plans on a moment's notice. Schedules can't be too rigid. Plan on the unexpected and you will be better off than trying to hold to routine. Take a trip if possible, get around and keep mentally alert. If a little romance or adventure comes along, accept it for the moment but don't take it too seriously.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

There just isn't anything better than a homemade yeast coffee cake for Sunday morning breakfast or for a weekday luncheon. Fresh and hot, generously buttered, coffee cake is the kind of food you can't stop eating until the plate is empty.

My idea of a perfect warm weather meal, a ladylike one, I must admit, is a bowl of fresh fruit salad, a tall glass of milk, and lots of fresh, warm coffee cake.

Cinnamon Raisin Coffee Cake.

[Two 8-inch coffee cakes.]
2 cakes compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
About 5 cups sifted flour
½ cup butter, melted
¾ cup sugar
½ cup raisins
Butter, cinamon, sugar

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk and add shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Add yeast, egg, and lemon rind. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn dough out onto a floured board and knead about 10 minutes, or until elastic and satiny. Shape into a ball, place in a greased bowl, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down, divide dough into two parts. Mix melted butter and sugar and spread over the bottom of the coffee cake pans. Sprinkle with raisins and a little water. Stretch dough to fit the two pans. Brush over with melted butter, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar, and let rise until doubled. Bake at 375 degrees for 25-30 minutes.

For a nutty coffee cake, add ½ cup nuts along with the raisins. Exceptionally good!

Form Coffee Cake.

1 cup milk
1 cake yeast
½ cup sugar
About 3½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
3 eggs
Grated rind of 1 lemon
Chopped blanched almonds

Scald milk, cool to lukewarm. Add yeast, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 cup of flour and the salt. Beat well and let batter rise until light, about an hour, in a greased bowl. Keep it covered and away from drafts. Cream remaining sugar with the shortening. Beat eggs until light and add with sugar and shortening to the sponge. Add remaining flour and lemon rind, mixing well. Sprinkle bottom of greased pan with chopped almonds. Cover with batter and let rise in a warm place until light, an hour or longer. Bake at 350 degrees, moderate oven, for an hour. The coffee cake may be frosted with an icing made of confectioners' sugar and milk.

For other good coffee cakes, see "Better Homemade Breads and Rolls," one of this department's best booklets. Recipes include muffins, biscuits, nut breads, and other quick breads as well as yeast breads, coffee cakes, and rolls. The price is 23 cents by mail. Stamps are preferred.

Child's Crocheted Dress

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is as dainty and charming a little dress as any youngster from 2 to 6 could wish for. It is easy to crochet and the maker, as well as the wearer, will be inordinately happy with the results. The instructions are available in sizes 2, 4, and 6.

For instructions in crocheting the child's dress, No. 882, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

One of the fallacious theories which has gained ground is that in match point duplicate, if the first three hands pass, fourth hand must open on anything remotely resembling a bid. Exactly why this philosophy [altho I hate to dignify it by such a term] should have come into favor I cannot say. Certainly it cannot be justified along logical lines. Consider the following hand:

West, dealer.

NORTH
♥ J 10
♦ 9 6 5 3 2

WEST
♠ K 5 2
♥ K 7 4 3 2
♦ J 8 4
♣ Q 6

♦ 7

SOUTH
♠ J 10 9
♥ Q 8
♦ A K Q 10
♣ 9 8 5 2

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 diamond
Pass	2 diamonds	Pass	Pass
Pass

Apparently South thought he could steal a small score and, indeed, a hasty glance at the North-South hands alone would lead one to think that two diamonds was a good contract. Compared to what the opponents could have made had they opened the hand and reached the obvious heart contract, two diamonds was very "cheap." But it was not cheap enough, considering that South could have passed out the hand.

West opened with his fourth best heart. East won with the ace and returned a heart. The king won and West now boldly returned the club queen. Dummy's king lost to East's ace and East collected two more club tricks. Then, since declarer was found to have the remaining high club, East led the fourth round and West over-ruffed dummy with the diamond jack. Dummy discarded a spade, but this did not help declarer inasmuch as he would have had to lose only one spade trick in any event. Thus, East-West collected seven tricks and a 200 point penalty.

As I said before, this was cheap compared to the laydown game, in fact, the five-odd in hearts, that East-West could have made. But, surprisingly enough, many other East-West teams did not open the bidding. South, with nothing material except a four card diamond suit, should have been well content to put his hand back into the board. The player who should have opened the bidding was East, with one club.

Tomorrow's Hand.

Catholic Action Summer School Will Begin Today

More than 2,000 young people from Chicago and the midwestern states are expected to attend the sixth annual Chicago meeting of the summer school of Catholic Action that will begin today at the Morrison hotel and will continue thru Saturday.

Sponsored locally by the Chicago Inter Student Catholic Action, the group will stress economic problems discussed from the consumer's viewpoint and political problems from the voter's position.

Engagement of Jane Weary Told at Party

to give the bridal dinner on Sept. 5, either at the Tavern or the Exmoor club. Winding up the prenuptial whirl will be a luncheon the day of the wedding for the bridal party and out of town guests, given by Mr. and Mrs. George S. Milnor.

The ceremony is set for 8:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church of Evanston, the Rev. Arthur T. Clark officiating. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Charles Engel, will give a small reception in their home in Wilmette.

Miss Westerhold will serve as maid of honor, and bridesmaids will be Miss Ulrich, Miss Strale, Miss Remy, and the bride's Smith college roommate, Miss Jane Peek of Kansas City. Mr. Westerhold will have Trafton Badger as best man and Frank Mueller, Lieut. Cameron Brown, Donovan Olson, John Shumway, and Mr. Wolf as ushers. After a wedding trip to Sea Island, Ga., Mr. Westerhold will bring his bride back to Evanston, where his mother, Mrs. Norman J. Westerhold, makes her home.

Dahlia Fanciers Prepare for Show.

Winnetka's dahlia fanciers are nursing along their rarest plants in preparation for the village's seventh annual dahlia show, to be held on Sept. 20 and 21. The show, sponsored by the American Gardeners' association, will be held in the Douglas Smith Memorial gymnasium of the Community house.

Prizes for all classes include silver trophies, red, white, blue, and green ribbons, and special awards. Friedrich Fischer heads the show committee. A committee of members of various north shore garden clubs, under the chairmanship of Miss Mary Williams, assistant director of the Community house, includes Mrs. Morton D. Cahn, Mrs. Arthur Fathauer, Mrs. Montague Ferry, Mrs. Stephen Gregory Jr., Mrs. Alice D. Miller, Mrs. William C. Moffat, Mrs. John Gary, Mrs. Bolton Sullivan, Mrs. Waldo Gundlach, Mrs. Donald Jones, Mrs. W. Lindsay Suter, Mrs. Lyle Harper, and Mrs. Harold F. Tideman.

The John P. Cohanes, who moved here recently from New York and who have taken an apartment at the Ambassador East, have as their guests her sisters, Mrs. Edward S. J. McVickar II. and Miss Sylvia de G. Livingston. Miss Livingston is on her way to Colorado Springs to join their mother, Mrs. Robert L. Livingston of New York at the Broadmoor hotel.

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 24 [Special].—Housing standards for students enrolled in the University of Illinois have been extended to junior men, according to an announcement made today by S. Earl Thompson, director of the division of student housing.

Under the new rule junior men are added to the list of students who must live in approved rooming houses while attending the university. The rules now provide all undergraduate women students not living with parent, guardian, or relative, and all men students of junior standing or under, will be required to live in approved rooms.

ALL-STAR GAME A SELL-OUT; LAST OF 93,200 TICKETS GONE

SERIES RECORD CROWD TO SEE EIGHTH CONTEST

Last of 13,000 Extra Seats Sold.

BY ARCH WARD.

Altho more than 13,000 temporary seats have been installed along the sidelines and on the rim of the horseshoe at the south end of Soldiers' field, the capacity falls far short of meeting ticket demands. There would be more than 125,000 banked around the gridiron Thursday night if the stadium could accommodate that many.

No standing room will be sold and park police officials urge those who hope somehow to pick up a ticket at the gate to remain away from the field. There will be none available.

Represent 33 States.

The 93,200 who will make up the largest crowd in the history of the All-Star game are coming from 33 states, the District of Columbia, and the Panama Canal Zone. The states represented in the ticket orders are Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Ohio, New York, Minnesota, Connecticut, New Mexico, Colorado, Tennessee, Missouri, Kentucky, Nebraska, West Virginia, Texas, Pennsylvania, California, South Dakota, North Dakota, Kansas, Georgia, Maryland, Virginia, Montana, Alabama, Massachusetts, Utah, Oklahoma, Mississippi, North Carolina, and Louisiana.

The ceremonies will begin at 8:15 o'clock with the unfurling of the huge flag at the north end of the field. Elmer Layden, commissioner of professional football, then will present the National league's Most Valuable Player trophy to Ace Parker of the Dodgers, who will come from Brooklyn to receive the award. Miss Margaret Haun of Northwestern university will present The Tribune's Most Valuable Player trophy to Ambrose Schindler of Southern California, who was voted by working newspaper men the outstanding All-Star in the 1940 game.

To Introduce All Starters.

Immediately after the presentation of the trophies huge spotlights will focus on a runway near the goal line on the west side of the stadium and the first of the 11 starting members of the Chicago Bears will be introduced. When the professional champions are on the field the lights will shift to the opposite side of the arena to pick up the first of the All-Stars. The kickoff will take place at 8:30 o'clock.

As soon as the two teams have left the field at the end of the half there will be a shrill whistle, a fanfare of trumpets and a shout from thousands of throats—"Here Comes the Band!" For the eighth successive year the now famed All-Star band of 190 members, representing 43 universities and colleges, will stage its brilliant spectacle. Glen Cliffe Bainum, director of the Northwestern university band, who has been in charge of all previous All-Star bands, has assembled the largest group in the history of the series.

Nine drum majors and nine drum majorettes from as many universities will lead the big band thru intricate marching formations. Mr. Bainum and his assistants have been working for weeks devising new formations, which will be etched in varicolored lights on the darkened background of Soldiers' field.

Middies Will Parade.

This year's performance will be augmented by the presence of 225 midshipmen from the United States Naval Training center at Abbot hall, Northwestern university. They will swing out of the stands near the north goal singing a popular navy air while the band spells out U. S. Navy across the field. More than 5,000 colored lights will be used to illuminate the bandsmen and their instruments.

The high spot of the between halves ceremony will be the induction of four college All-Stars into the Navy Air corps. They are Dave Rankin of Purdue, George Franck of Minnesota, Edward Frutig of Michigan, and Bob Saggau of Notre Dame. Commander Richard K. Gaines, Lieut. Carl Olsen, and Commander Richard Whitehead will have charge of the induction.

The game and ceremonies will be broadcast over the Mutual network and the Blue network of NBC. The only Chicago outlet will be W-G-N.

ALL-STARS PERK UP

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Star football men had immensely more dash and spirit in their drill yesterday morning at Dyche stadium for their engagement with the professional champions. It was apparent to all that the indifferent performance in Saturday's intrasquad game had served to spur on the collegians.

There was no contact work but in

He's Asked to 'Withdraw'; Play Starts Today.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 24 — The 45th amateur tournament of the United States Golf association will open tomorrow morning over the snug fairways of the Omaha Field club with a field of 146 players battling for the championship won last year by Richard Dorval Chapman on his home course of Winged Foot, N. Y.

Absent from that field, altho he is still on the grounds, will be John Barnum, the photogenic Texan who has won the Mexican Amateur crown these last two years and who is currently registering from Chicago's Elmhurst Country club. Barnum qualified easily in the Chicago district trials for the tournament at North Shore and came here under the assumption that he was a contestant. This morning John was called in by officials of the USGA. Following the conference he appeared and said that as far as this tournament is concerned he is officially "withdrawn," intimating that he had been given a choice of withdrawing or being disqualified.

Question Expense Account.

Altho no formal ruling was made by the USGA, officials said that they regarded the case as a negative one, which would not permit any public announcement by them. It is no secret that Barnum is employed by a national sports goods manufacturer and has been for the last 18 months, with headquarters in Chicago. While the USGA committee would not issue a statement, it was understood that the matter of Barnum's tournament expenses brought up today's situation. Whether Barnum's status in this tournament will apply to all further USGA amateur competitions has not been decided.

Aside from the Barnum incident, the day was devoted to practice, the best of the earlier efforts being a 36—34—70, turned in by Mario Gonzales, the slender South American who will be recalled by Chicagoans as the author of a 67 in the recent Chicago Open. That 70 was two under the Omaha Field club's par of 36—36—72. The course is as tight a layout as the Amateur has seen in years, having out of bounds all the way thru the first nine. Because of this situation, out of bounds shots will be penalized by loss of distance only, instead of the customary stroke and distance assessment.

Mandly Scores 69.

Harold Mandly Jr. of Avon, Conn., former New England champion, came in with a late round of 69, three under par. Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the former Wisconsin boy who last Thursday won the Great Lakes amateur at Knollwood with the kind of golf that could take the National, was right pleased with a final practice round of 73.

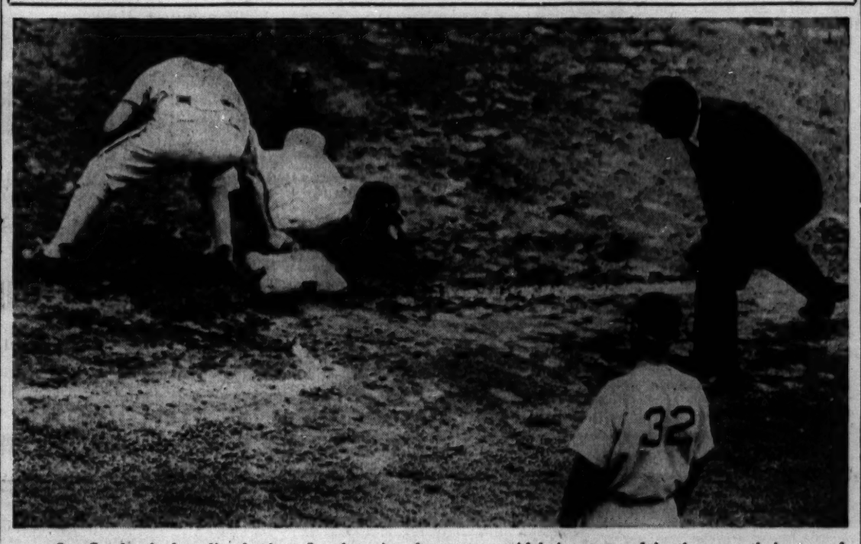
Five former champions will be in the field that goes to bat tomorrow in the first 18 holes of the qualifying round, a medal play test that will be concluded with another 18 on Tuesday.

Goodman on Home Course.

The five former title holders are Chapman; Chick Evans of Chicago, who won in 1916 and 1920; Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, victor in 1936, the last year the tournament was conducted on the British all match play system; Johnny Goodman, winner in 1937, and the home club's choice, and Marvin [Bud] Ward of Spokane, Wash., title holder in 1939 and winner of the Western the last two years.

Ward today played in a foursome that included three other young men who, like Bud, are ticketed to go far. They are Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., who led all amateurs in the National Open in June, and two Chicagoans—Art Doering of Medinah, a national semi-finalist against Ward in 1939, and Walter Burkemo of Evanston, one of the best amateurs in the central states. Ward had the best card of the quartet, a 74.

Joe Gordon Dives to Safety



Joe Gordon had to dive back to first base in a hurry to avoid being trapped in the seventh inning of yesterday's opening game in Comiskey park, but he managed to beat Ted Lyons' quick throw to Joe Kuhel. George Pipgras is the umpire and No. 32 is Earl Combs, Yankee coach. The Yankees defeated the Sox in both games, 5 to 1 and 8 to 5. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

31,523 WATCH CARDS WIN, 7-3, THEN LOSE, 3-2

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP).—The Dodgers clung to their game and a half lead in the National league by getting a draw with the second place Cardinals today. St. Louis won the first game, 7 to 3, and Brooklyn took the second, 3 to 2.

It was a brilliant struggle for 31,523 fans, all the Dodger management would let into the park, and it had a brilliant ending with lean, bald Whitlow Wyatt driving across the winning run as dusk descended on the second game.

The first contest was little short of a rout as the Cardinals broke out of their lethargy of recent days and humbled the Dodgers under a shower of base hits and steady pitching by Lefty Ernie White for his 16th victory of the season. The Cardinals made a dozen hits, including seven doubles, and disposed of Kirby Higbe, winner of 17 games for Brooklyn, in two innings.

Higbe's Eighth Defeat.

A double by Jim Brown and a single by Don Padgett produced one run in the first inning and successive doubles by Walker Cooper and Frank Crespi and a single by White added two more in the second. By this time Larry French was warming up in Brooklyn's bull pen and when Johnny Hopp led off with a single in the third, Higbe departed. He was charged with his eighth defeat.

It was the fourth time White had beaten Brooklyn without a setback.

The second affair started out where the first left off, with Hopp, Mize, and Coaker Triplett bunching singles for a run in the first inning. But then it turned into an almost airtight hurling duel between the experienced Wyatt and 20 year old Howard Pollet, sensational rookie southpaw who was brought up about a week ago from Houston of the Texas league.

Pollet Escapes Jam.

The sturdy, black haired youngster yielded only seven hits and fanned six compared with the record of nine hits and eight strikeouts of Wyatt. He pitched himself out of one jam in the second inning when the Dodgers loaded the bases on a walk, a single by Peewee Reese and Shortstop Martin Marion's fumble of a grounder by Wyatt with two out. Then he forced Dixie Walker to lay down an easy grounder.

But Pollet got into another jam in the fourth and didn't escape. With two out Owen singled thru the pitcher's box, Wyatt walked and both raced home on a double by Dixie Walker.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 24.—The Phillies, who are beginning to think themselves altogether too classy to be living in the league basement, ripped into the Cubs this afternoon in a double header. They captured one decision with marked ease, 8 to 5, and refused to become disturbed after the Chicagoans had risen up unexpectedly with a three run tying splurge in the ninth inning of the second affair. The Phils simply belted across a run in their half and won, 7 to 6.

The tail enders had a good time for themselves in the first argument against Vallie Eaves. They pounded him for 13 hits, among them a homer by Dan Litwhiler, who also sailed one out of the park in the second game. While Eaves was going thru this embarrassment the Cubs were suffering in another way at the hands of Johnny Podgajny, who didn't permit them many liberties.

It Happens to Root, Too.

What happened to Eaves also happened to the veteran Charles Root a little later. They hit him for two runs in the opening inning and for a cluster of four in the fifth, among the grand total off the veteran being three homers, two triples and a double as well as some singles. Paul Erickson then worked neatly until the tying ninth scrambled the Cubs' lineup. The juggling made it necessary for Claude Passeau, victor over the Dodgers yesterday, to take a hand. He was welcomed by a single from Joe Marty and then lost the decision when Merrill May whistled a double down the right field line.

FOREIGN POLICY

In a speech at Cleveland last Nov. 2, three days before his re-election, President Roosevelt said:

"There is nothing secret about our foreign policy. . . . I have stated it many times before, not only in words, but in action. I now restate it.

"The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war. At the same time we seek to keep foreign conceptions of government out of the United States.

"The second purpose of this policy is to keep war as far away as possible from the shores of the entire western hemisphere."

FIRST GAME

Eaves got by successfully for two innings of the first game because his helpers speared several long drives, notably a one handed sizzler by Barney Olsen, but in the third the Phils mastered the art of hitting 'em beyond reach. Dan Murtaugh singled and scored on Stan Benjamin's double. Singles by Joe Marty and Litwhiler finished the three run spree.

The Cubs got themselves back into the game in the sixth on two runs which grew from a single by Stan Hack and a triple by Lou Stringer. The Phils gave the Cubs quite a workout in the same inning, also scoring a pair. Bob Sturgeon's error and singles by Murtaugh and Benjamin made up some of the ingredients, but others were four stolen bases, one of them a theft of home by Murtaugh. Olsen's single and Clyde McCullough's double led the Cubs to another pair in the seventh. In the home half Litwhiler hit his 14th homer with a mate on base to restore the three run margin.

The Phils matched the Cubs again in the eighth. Hack tripled and scored on an infield out, the hit sending Podgajny to the bathhouse. In the Phils' half Benjamin walked, stole for the third time and went in on Marty's single.

SECOND GAME

Root encountered trouble in the first inning with Benjamin's homer, Marty's triple and Litwhiler's single. Benjamin's two base error on Nicholson's single and a hit by Dahlgren retrieved one run for the Cubs in the second. In the third, Sturgeon's double, Root's sacrifice and Hack's infield out tied it at 2 each.

Then came the fifth inning deluge. Murtaugh opened with a single, but went out trying for a double. Benjamin walked and was expunged trying to steal. The next incident was Marty's No. 6 homer to left. Etten singled and scored on Litwhiler's 15th homer, also to left. Emmett Mueller tripled and was driven in on Bob Bragan's double. Root then turned over his assignment to Erickson.

Stringer and Dahlgren doubled in the sixth for the Cubs' third run. The Chicagoans remained quiet until the ninth when, after passes to Dahlgren and Bob Scheffing with one out, Pinch Hitter Dominic Dallessandro doubled to drive them home. Pearson relieved Melton and fanned Leiber, who batted for Erickson, but Hack tripled, scoring Hudson, who ran for Dallessandro, with the tying run. Stringer and Cavarretta walked, filling the bases, so Pearson yielded to Lefty Hoerst. McCullough batted for Nicholson and lofted to Litwhiler.

TWO BIG INNINGS WHIP LYONS, LEE BEFORE 44,296

Five Run Rally in 8th Wins Second.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Yankees beat the White Sox twice yesterday, 5 to 1 and 8 to 5, before a hopeful crowd of 44,296 in Comiskey park, but they were rather nice about it. They waited till the ninth to make four runs and beat Ted Lyons in the first game and Thornton Lee was ahead, 4 to 2, going into the eighth of the second game, then the New Yorkers scored five runs and added one off Jack Hallett in the ninth.

The New Yorkers, who made only one homer in their last series of four games here, turned on the familiar power in the second game. Charley Keller banged his 31st of the year in the sixth inning for the Yanks' second run and in the big eighth Tom Henrich tied the score with a two run homer and Keller put the visitors ahead with another circuit smash. Both of Keller's efforts came down in the upper deck of the right field stands.

Red Ruffing pitched and batted the Yanks to victory in the first game, his single and double accounting for three runs. The victory was the 243d of Red's major league career and his 14th in 1941 against five defeats.

Frightened by Yanks.

The Sox had lost eleven earlier games this year to the Yankees and there have been times when they seemed to be frightened in the presence of the New Yorkers, but it is doubtful if they ever seemed to be so distressed mentally as they were in each game, particularly in the second contest. There was a report that Julius Solters had been hypnotized at a seance Saturday night and had escaped from the professor before being snapped out of it. This was denied and personally we are inclined to the belief that the one brainstorm suffered by Julius induced a second and third one, Julius being a conscientious fellow.

The Sox remained in second place by a margin of one game over the Indians, whom they led by four games last mid-week. However, they have to play the Yanks again this afternoon. It will be Marius Russo vs. Eddie Smith.

FIRST GAME

The Sox, who outhit the Yanks, 12 to 10, in the first game, loaded the bases with none out in the second inning and then eked out their only run as Mike Tresh hit into a double play. The bases had been filled on singles by Luke Appling and Solters and a sacrifice by Bob Kennedy which was fielded to third too late to force Appling.

The Yanks tied the score in the fifth on the first of three singles by Bill Dickey, a stolen base, and, after Joe Gordon and Phil Rizzuto had fanned, a double by Ruffing.

Sox Rally Fades Out.

The Sox wasted singles by Myril Hoag and Taft Wright in the third inning, singles by Tresh and Lyons in the fourth inning, a single by Kennedy in the sixth, singles by Lyons and Bill Knickerbocker at the start of the seventh when they were thwarted by some amazing so-called strategy. Kuhel tried to sacrifice, but forced Knickerbocker at second, Lyons moving to third. Then, with the score tied and only one out, Kuhel tried to steal second, but was thrown out, Dickey to Rizzuto, Lyons holding third. Hoag ended the inning by grounding to Rolfe.

In the ninth, after the Yanks had scored four runs in their half on singles by Charley Keller and

SOUTHERN CROSS, LIVELY LADY WIN YACHT HONORS

310 Craft Participate in Regatta Off Navy Pier.

Southern Cross, Commodore Robert Benedict Jr.'s 55 foot yawl, and Lively Lady, Otto Dreher's recent Mackinac cup winner, were major winners in the Daily News regatta off Navy pier yesterday. A fleet of 253 sailing craft, 32 rowing cutters, and 28 motor cruisers participated. A light northeast to southeast breeze prevailed.

The Universal time prize winner, Lively Lady, was first of the fleet of sail yachts to finish the 10 mile course. The boat was sailed by Bill Lawrie of the South Shore [Milwaukee] Yacht club, for the owner.

Also Wins in Its Class.

Lively Lady's elapsed time was 2 hours 15 minutes and 30 seconds, corrected to 2:04:42. The 46 foot sloop also won in its class, the Q class. It was followed across the finish line by Revenge, Blair Walliser and Ken Griffin's Chicago Yacht club 10-meter cutter, which won the 8 and 10 meter class event, and Gloriant, sailed for the last time by its owner, Anthony Herrmann of the Racine Yacht club.

Southern Cross was the first yacht of the cruising division to cover the triangular course. Sailing the yawl were Robert Benedict Jr., owner-skipper of the Jackson Park Yacht club, his daughter, Faraday, Dr. William A. Thomas, Kirk Ruger, Al Stresen-Reuter, Morton Henry, and William Crowe.

Corrected Time is 2:34:47.

Winning elapsed time for the yawl was 2:39:43, corrected to 2:34:47, which placed it first in A class of the cruising division as well as ahead of all other cruising craft.

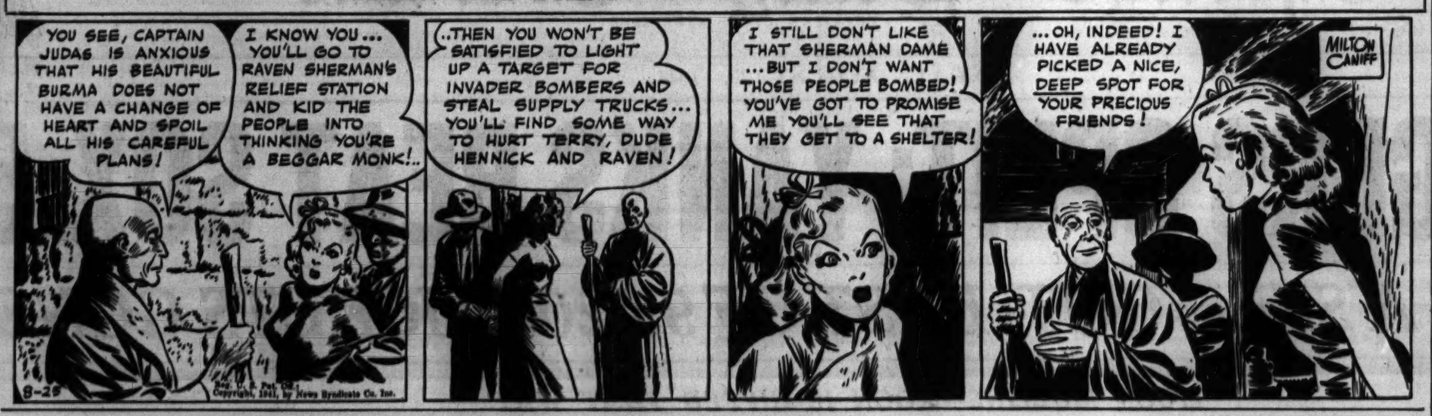
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—PLOT ABOUT A PLOT



Bears to End Practices on Defense Note

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 24.—Having virtually rested their case offensively, the Chicago Bears today turned their attention to the employment of defensive measures against the running and passing onslaught of their opponents Thursday night in the College All-Star game in Soldiers' field, Chicago.

The matter of setting up defense for the fleet collegiate backs and skilled passers became complicated when George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, learned that Dr. Clarence W. Spears, University of Toledo football coach, has been called in by the All-Stars to help diagnose the National Football league champions' T formation man in motion offense.

Linked with Packers.

Dr. Spears, Halas said, has been trying to figure out the Bears' attack for five years in the capacity of a scout for the Green Bay Packers. "It looks like this Carl Snavely really wants to beat us," said Halas bitterly. "Not counting Spears he has seven coaches and himself in Evanston. Now I guess the All-Stars will be given the defensive stuff Green Bay uses against us, thanks to the arrival of Dr. Spears."

Halas further charged that Snavely, head coach of the All-Stars, had sent one of his three Cornell assistants to the Iowa high school athletic association coaching school last week in Boone, Ia. The star professor at the Iowa school was Clark Shaughnessy, Stanford coach and associate of Halas in the development of the T formation.

Charges Espionage, No Less.

And thoroly worked up by now the Bears' main man declared he has evidence that an instructor from Cornell has been surreptitiously watching the Bears' practice sessions these past two weeks in the guise of a vacationland visitor.

Anyway, Halas' outburst indicated that the coaches also are reaching the boiling point with the game only four nights away.

Various defensive setups were arranged today at which the Bears' running and passing attacks were launched. They even tried plays against a 4-4-3 defense, indicating they will be prepared for anything.

For the first time since his knee was banged in Kenosha last Tuesday night, Sid Luckman, No. 1 quarter back, took part in drill. He called several plays, threw a few passes, then was chased to the side lines over his own protests.

CHICAGO BIKE RIDERS WIN TWO NATIONAL TITLES

Marvin Thomson, 18 years old, won the senior crown with 17 points. Jean Michels, 20, Illinois Tech co-ed, beat out Elsie Stracke of St. Louis for the girls' title, and Chuck Edwards was second in the junior division, behind Andy Bernadsky of San Francisco.

Thomson won the 15 mile grind yesterday, triumphed in the three mile sprint today and was a good second in the 30 mile marathon. Bob Stauffacher of San Mateo, Cal., won the 30 mile grind, and was runner up to Thomson with 12 points.

SENIORS—Marvin Thompson, Chicago, 17; Bob Stauffacher, San Mateo, 15; Don Ferguson, Hollywood, 7; Don Whetstine, Pasadena, 6; Chester Nelson Jr., St. Louis, 4; Carleton Boulevare, Shelby, O., 3; Jim Colla, San Jose, Cal., 3; Tommy McFadden, Pasadena, 1; Furman Kuzier, Somerville, N. J., ½; Jim Tolle, Indianapolis, ½.

JUNIORS—Andy Bernadsky, San Francisco, 18; Chuck Edwards, Chicago, 14; Walter Sorenson, Milwaukee, 3; Bob Ingram, Pasadena, 2; Larry Stone, Pasadena, 2; Bob Frei, St. Louis, 2; Frank Berlando, Chicago, 2; Bob Thacker, Oklahoma City, 1.

REX MAYS TAKES 100 MILE RACE AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 24 [Special].—Rex Mays of Glendale, Cal., today won the 100 mile dirt track championship race at the Wisconsin State fair grounds by a half lap, leading thruout. George Connor of Los Angeles was second, and Mauri Rose, Indianapolis, third. Other finishers in order were Al Putnam, Los Angeles, fourth; Emil Andres, Chicago, fifth, and Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, sixth.

An overflow crowd, estimated by officials at 50,000, saw Mays win the pole position with the fastest qualifying time, then go on to victory. Mays was forced into the pits for tire changes on the 54th lap, but lost no ground, as Connor and Rose, who were pushing him, also went to the pits for the same reason. The race for second and third place supplied the chief thrill at the finish. The drivers were only a car's length apart to the end.

Chicago and Milwaukee Tie in Cricket Match

A rare event in cricket, a tie game, was played yesterday at Wilson avenue and the Outer drive when Chicago and Milwaukee finished in a 51 to 51 deadlock after all batters had been retired. In another Illinois Cricket league match Winnetka registered its 12th consecutive victory by defeating Lake Shore, 105 to 13.

Spirit Counts, Says Mr. Sohn of All-Stars

"Spirit makes ball teams," philosophized Ben Sohn, raw boned, 220 pound Southern California guard, as he sought to evaluate the chances of the College All-Stars in Thursday's encounter with the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field.

Ben Sohn.

"Sure, we have great personnel, the best backs you ever saw and a lot of rugged linemen," he added. "But so have the Bears. Spirit will decide the issue, and I think we have the proper amount to win."

Perhaps the big Californian's realization of the importance of team morale is why the United States Marine corps believes he is good officer material. He spent the summer at the marine officers' training school at San Diego, and was several days late in reporting for practice with the All-Stars.

It wasn't long before spirit and very obvious football ability combined to place Marine Ben Sohn among the top flight guard candidates on the squad. The coaches took one look at the 6 foot 3 inch husky and sent him into an intrasquad scrimmage 15 minutes after he arrived at Dyche stadium, leading someone to remark, "the marines have landed and have the situation well in hand."

Ben's ability to scrimmage on his first day in camp was due to his excellent physical condition, a fact which did not escape the notice of the coaches. He admits that he is in the best condition of his career after two months with the marines. Daily hikes and field maneuvers with full equipment soon erased excess weight and produced a real fighting machine.

INDIANS DEFEAT RED SOX TWICE; TAKE 3D PLACE

Win Opener, 4 to 3, Then Take Second, 5 to 2.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 24 (AP).—The Indians climbed past Boston into third place today by giving the Red Sox a double defeat, 4 to 3 and 5 to 2, in their first double victory since July 13.

It was a battle of southpaw pitchers, Al Milnar taking the first from Mickey Harris and Al Smith topping Earl Johnson in the second. Ken Keltner hit his 20th homer in the opener. Scores:

THE GUMPS—GETTING AWAY FROM IT ALL

Giants Lose 2 Games to Reds, 13 to 9, 6 to 4

New York, Aug. 24 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds took today's double header with the Giants. With Harry Craft hitting two homers and driving in six runs, and Lonnie Frey sending five tallies across, they outslugged the Giants in the opener, 13 to 9. Elmer Riddle hung up his 15th victory as the Reds downed the Giants in the second contest, 6 to 4.

Bucky Walters saw relief duty in both games and both times stopped late Giant uprisings.

BRAVES, PIRATES DIVIDE.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 24 (AP).—Bob Klinger won his eighth consecutive game today for the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 3, after a 12 inning opener in which the Braves twice came from behind to score a 4 to 3 victory. Klinger limited the Braves to seven hits in the second game, which was shortened to six innings by the Massachusetts Sunday baseball law.

Vince DiMaggio hit his 17th home run and third in three days in the first. Elbie Fletcher, Pirate first baseman, was chased in the fifth inning of the second game after disputing a decision by Umpire Ziggy Sears.

Olsen, Cubs' Hurler, Will Quit Hospital

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 24.—Vern Olsen, the Cubs' lefty who has been in a hospital here since last Monday will be released tomorrow. His difficulty was diagnosed as acute inflammation of the gall bladder. After a few days of exercise Olsen will be able to go back to work, unless there is a recurrence of his ailment.

The Cubs, as a sort of rest between today's double header and twin bills here Tuesday and another in Boston on Wednesday, will appear in an exhibition tomorrow night in Reading, Pa., home of Dominic Dallessandro.

CASH FOR HITS GAME GIVES FANS A RUN FOR MONEY

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 24 (AP).—Lured by the greenback bait of $100 for each shutout inning he hurled, Chattanooga's Buck Marrow blanked the Atlanta Crackers in six innings today, but he lost the game, 4 to 1.

In a baseball bonanza brewed in the brain of Barnumlike Joe Engel, Chattanooga president, Marrow strolled over to Engel's box and collected a banknote after each scoreless inning.

Marrow was billed by Engel to hurl both games of the double header with the $100 offer standing for all 16 innings, but when he lost the opener—no more chance at the easy dough. Another pitcher took over. He, too, lost, 3 to 2.

Just to show he was as good a Santa Claus as Engel, Earl Mann, Atlanta president, shuffled out defense bonds to every Atlanta player who got a hit, $25 for a safety and $50 for a home run. He paid $275 for seven safeties and two homers.

Engel and his party wheeled onto the field just before game time in an armored car. He bounced out, armed with a shotgun, and placed the shooting piece in his box. It was 92 in the shade on Ponce de Leon field and Engel was in the sun, so he bought a block of ice and sat it on his box rail.

Marrow, whose take today was well above his monthly wages, collected in the second, third, fourth, fifth, seventh, and eighth innings.

DETROIT STRIKE ENDS; TRANSIT LINES REOPENED

CIO Accepts Plan for Employe Election.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—Street car and bus service was resumed at 4 p. m. today, ending a strike which had tied up the municipally owned transportation system since 4 a. m. Wednesday.

The tieup resulted from a struggle between the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway, and Motor Coach Operators and the CIO State, County, and Municipal Workers of America for right to collect dues from more than 5,500 employés of the lines.

The strike, called by the AFL union, was precipitated by a dispute over which union should be permitted to post notices on bulletin boards in the city owned car barns. Wages or working conditions were not involved in the strike.

CIO Unionists Warned.

Frank X. Martel, head of the Wayne County and Detroit Federation of Labor, announced that buses or street cars operated by AFL employés would be promptly abandoned if CIO unionists entered them and as much as spoke to the employés. "The crews are on the job to operate the lines, and not to talk things over with the CIO," Martel said.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries and city traction commissioners had announced earlier that resumption of service was contingent only on the AFL union's approval of a compromise plan proposed last night. The union ratified the plan at 1:15 p. m. after a three hour meeting.

Spokesmen for the CIO union soon afterward also agreed to the plan and urged members to return to work.

Early Election Opposed.

The CIO union earlier had expressed objection to the settlement proposal, which provides for an election Tuesday in which employés will decide between the AFL and the CIO as bargaining agent. The plan provides for office workers, maintenance men, and operators to vote in the election. The CIO had opposed holding an election so soon.

The end of the strike was hailed both by Greater Detroit's 2,500,000 citizens and the city's merchants. The strike tied up 1,000 street cars, 1,700 buses, and 1,100 miles of track. It cost the strikers an estimated $37,000 daily in wages and the city $65,000 daily in fares.

2 KILLED, 4 HURT AS AUTOS CRASH IN OAK FOREST

Two men were killed and four other persons were injured early yesterday in an automobile collision at 159th street and Pulaski road, on the outskirts of Oak Forest.

Those killed were identified as Joseph Shimkus, 45 years old, of 2012 Canalport avenue, and Anthony Matuzas, 35, of 4340 Drexel boulevard. Police believe that Shimkus was driving when their car collided with one driven by Edward Costello, 27, of 15209 Lexington street, Harvey.

Matuzas' wife, Sophia, 28, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Balcauski, 50, of 3359 Lowe avenue, were critically injured and taken to Oak Forest infirmary. Costello and his companion, Peter Reynolds, 35, of 3348 Monroe street were also taken to the infirmary for treatment.

Nick Antick, 56, of Lisle, Ill., died in St. Charles hospital, Aurora, of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile Saturday on Ogden avenue highway two miles west of Lisle. The driver was Fred D. Kasserman, 51, of Glen Ellyn.

Frank Anderson, 73 years old, 10326 Avenue M, a retired merchant, died last night in the county hospital of injuries suffered last Monday when he was run over by an automobile near his home. The driver was James P. Rifface, 20, of 7111 Woodlawn avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 597 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 416 were killed in Chicago, where 15,899 were injured in the same period.

Newsstand Owner, 71, Dies While Skating in a Rink

7 BURN TO DEATH IN COLLISION OF BUS AND 4 AUTOS

Waldwick, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP).—A Central Greyhound bus plowed into four parked cars on route 2 tonight and burst into flames, causing the deaths of at least seven persons and injuries to at least nine others.

Fire reduced the bus and one car to warped masses of metal. Six charred bodies, including what appeared to be a mother with an infant clasped to her breast, were taken from one automobile.

The automobiles were stopped at a traffic light when the bus, bound from Albany to New York, approached on a downgrade and hit them, Corp. Jacob J. Harris of the Ridgewood state police said.

Of the dead, only one was immediately identified. He was Joseph Bason, 38, of Jersey City. The bodies of the other six were burned beyond recognition.

Four persons were admitted to Hackensack hospital, one of whom was so severely burned that he was not expected to live, and five others were discharged after treatment for cuts and bruises.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

NAVY WILL RUN BIG SHIPYARD BY TOMORROW

Union Announces 'Strike Is Over.'

Kearny, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP).—Decks were cleared today for resumption of work on $493,000,000 worth of naval and merchant shipping contracts held by the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company as a naval official announced that first steps were about to be taken to reopen the idle yards and a union president stated that the 17-day-old strike was "definitely over."

After a conference with company officials and union representatives, Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, who will direct the resumption of production, announced that the plant superintendents, foremen, and department heads would meet tomorrow to complete plans for operation. He expressed belief that work would be in full swing Tuesday.

Orders Pickets Withdrawn.

Daniel Dean, president of local 16, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers [CIO], which called the walkout Aug. 7, issued an order to withdraw all pickets soon after the conference at the plant ended.

"The strike is definitely over," Dean announced.

Local 16 called the walkout affecting 18,000 workers after the company refused to accept a recommendation of the national defense mediation board that a clause calling for maintenance-of-membership in the union be included in the working contract.

Aside from Admiral Bowen's uniform, there was no military aspect to the strike scene. A few municipal and Hudson county policemen were on duty.

Daniel S. Ring, industrial relations adviser in the Office of Production Management, went to union headquarters in Jersey City after the shipyard conference and addressed the shop stewards.

Differ on Union Maintenance.

He indicated that maintenance of membership was not being considered in the reopening of the yards. Union officers insisted it was. Of his visit to the shop stewards, Ring's statement said:

"I appeared before them and said that the navy had come in to take over the operation of the yard. The instructions under which the navy was acting were outlined in the Presidential executive order and that since the President is the commander in chief of the navy the procedure would be strictly within the limits of that order.

"I was authorized to tell them that as far as wages, hours, and working conditions were concerned, they would be put into effect with the adjustments agreed upon by the employés and the company as of the time when negotiations finally broke off."

Ready to Run "Right Now."

Peter Flynn, vice president of local 16, said the yard was virtually ready to go ahead with production "right now," adding that approximately a half hour was needed to oil machinery and get under way.

L. H. Korndorff, company president, in a statement at New York expressed regret at "the turn that affairs have taken because it was so clear as a result of the final direct negotiations that all differences between the local union and ourselves were disposed of except the principle of the 'maintenance of membership,' or, in other words, the modified closed shop."

"Of course, it goes without saying," Korndorff asserted, "that everything I have in the way of knowledge and experience regarding the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company will be at the disposal of the navy department."

Public Warned of New Limits on Time Buying

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—The American public was warned to expect changes in the federal reserve board's order restricting instalment credit in a statement today by Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the board.

Marriner S. Eccles.

Eccles said that the regulation would be subject to change from time to time "as experience with its administration develops, and as economic conditions require a further dampening of buying power to safeguard the interests of consumers and the public.

The regulation in general limits instalment credit to a maximum of 18 months and fixes down payment requirements for various types of articles at a greater percentage of the purchase price than was generally practiced. It becomes effective Sept. 1.

Eccles Presents Views.

Eccles' statement was a discussion of the reasons why restriction of instalment credit was deemed a necessary adjunct to other means of preventing price inflation—price control and control of buying power thru increased taxation and the marketing of government securities with average wage earners.

The federal reserve chairman said he wanted to "correct the impression held by some that the regulation of instalment buying tends to restrict production or curtail the business of dealers in merchandise." He said this impression is based on a misunderstanding and argued that it is because of defense needs that "civilian supply is reduced in certain lines."

Would Dampen Demand.

"The purpose of instalment credit regulation is to dampen demand, not to diminish production," Eccles said. "If production could keep pace with both civilian and defense demands, we would have no price inflation troubles. We would need none of the measures of control and regulation which are being invoked with the objective of protecting the public."

CHICAGO WORK LAY-OFFS START OVER PRIORITIES

25 Illinois Plants Are About to Drop Men.

A Kankakee stove company that usually employs 1,100 has laid off 200 nonskilled workers and is ready to drop 400 more for the lack of steel and chemicals. A Pekin wire fence company will shut down, dismissing its 50 employés unless galvanized iron wire becomes available within a few days. Another Pekin concern that makes corn dumps is at the point of quitting. It can't get sheet iron.

Hundreds of others have refrained from hiring the additional men warranted by the current business acceleration. They struggled thru the depression years, keeping their plants and forces intact. Now, they feel, they should be cashing in. But the manner in which defense contracts are distributed and the resultant clampdown on raw materials have stymied them, they declare.

Greater Crisis in Offing.

And this is just the start. The scattered closings and lay-offs give the merest glimpse of what is expected to come unless relief is granted the small industries of this area.

In Chicago alone 66 classifications of business and industry have been affected by the priority clampdown, according to the Illinois Manufacturers' association. More than 66 per cent of the association's daily phone calls come from members who are in distress because of the priorities, association officials said.

In each of the classifications listed there are from 20 to 150 individual concerns and industries facing the specter of eventual strangulation. In Chicago alone, therefore, there are thousands of businesses whose fate is in the balance.

These Businesses Affected.

Electrical brakes, electrical parts, vacuum cleaners, refrigerator units, farm machinery, fencing equipment, gas stoves, heating apparatus, hair clippers, hardware specialties, ironing machines and washers, jewelers' findings, stoves, and laundry equipment.

Lighting equipment and fixtures, milking devices, machine parts, furniture makers' tools, metal tops for jars, metal moldings and building specialties, water softeners, water treating equipment, multiple plunger press products, stampings, mousetraps, musical instruments, and name plates.

Oil Burners and Piston Rings.

Nickel plating, oil burners, poultry equipment, electric blowers, paper boxes, piston rings, roofing material, rotary converters, refrigerator hardware, radio products, rubberized yarn, road machinery, sewing machines, stainless steel equipment, soda fountains, steel and alloy fabrications, and steel kitchen cabinets.

Steel belt lacing, scales, steel drain bins, tools, telephone equipment, vending machines, vehicle mirrors, reflectors, radiator caps, battery carriers, wire specialties, hog rings and washers.

The principal needs of all these small industries include such raw materials and articles as aluminum, bolts, screws, nuts, brass, copper coated wire, cadmium [for plating], lead and pig lead, nickel and plating, paperboard, steel of all kinds, small tools, and zinc.

Plan at First Seems Logical.

When the priorities system was outlined early this year, it was made to appear so simple and logical that business—particularly little business—felt almost no apprehension. It still appears so, even while thousands of concerns watch the materializing threat of strangulation.

Despite assurances that the system is flexible and that there will be no "unwise application of priorities in such a way as to cut off raw materials," little business is finding that there is a terrible rigidity that is shoving it toward disaster. The remedies provided in the plan have been invoked with little success by the majority of those feeling the pinch.

Final decisions on relief are up to the priorities division of the Office of Production Management. A recent booklet issued by the OPM contains this paragraph:

"It must be emphasized that it is not the policy of the division to take priority action to solve some purely civilian problem which has no connection whatever with defense needs, unless unusual factors are involved."

Fears Death of Small Plants.

And adding to the general dismay, there came a statement last month from Peter R. Nehemkis Jr., a spokesman for the OPM. He said:

"It is one of the profound ironies of our defense effort that its total effect may well be to obliterate the smaller enterprises from the American business scene."

Unwilling to believe that their government would embark upon any program that might result in wiping them out, thousands of small business men and industrialists of Illinois insist that bungling of the defense effort is responsible for their plight.

Are the estimates of needs accurate? Does the government need as much steel and aluminum and other materials as the experts of the OPM say it does? These questions will be discussed tomorrow, and the plight of industries in the Chicago area will be illustrated by specific examples.

★SMALL BUSINESS★ MAN'S DEPARTMENT

Are you a small business man whose enterprise is in jeopardy because of lack of materials? Do you need information on how the priority system works, how to get the rating you deserve? Are you seeking government work and confused on how to go about it?

If you need such information, or if you are interested in the problems of the small business man, this department is prepared to help you. In this column will be published each day questions and answers of interest to the small business man. Prompt and careful attention will be given to all inquiries.

Other agencies are set up to help the business man meet the problems that have arisen under the rearmament program. This department will get the information that the business man needs or will direct him to the proper agency. When advisable it will communicate with his senator or congressman.

Following are answers to some of the questions that are puzzling business men:

STEEL PRIORITIES.

Is all steel now under priority control?

FORMS FOR ORDERS.

What form do I have to fill out when I place an order for steel? Where can I get a copy and to whom should it be sent?

Answer: Form PD-73 must be filled out by every purchaser of steel. Copies may be obtained from the Chicago region priorities office, 3d floor, Federal Reserve Bank building, Chicago, or from this department. After the form is filled out it should be forwarded with your order to the steel producer and not to the Office of Production Management. The regulations provide that the statement must be attached to every order or contract placed with a producer for carbon and alloy steel castings, ingots, blooms, slabs, billets, forgings, and all other semifinished and finished rolled or drawn carbon and alloy steels covered in the order issued Aug. 9 by the director of priorities.

CRITICAL LIST.

Where can I get a complete list of the materials on the priorities critical list?

Answer: All the lists now available are out of date because of the addition of new items. New lists are being prepared and will be made available thru this department as soon as possible.

SEEK SUBCONTRACTS.

What can a manufacturer do to keep his factory operating if he is engaged in nondefense production and is unable to get a preference rating on needed materials?

Answer: The division of priorities urges a manufacturer who finds himself in this situation to seek subcontract work from firms holding direct government contracts. Information on available subcontract work is furnished by the regional offices of the Defense Contract service. Manufacturers are also urged to develop substitute processes. In a case of special urgency the manufacturer may bring his problem to the attention of the priorities division. This department is prepared to provide information on procedure required in such cases.

PROBE PLAN SUPPORTED.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24 (AP).—A rising tide of complaints that small industries are being cut off from essential materials generated bipartisan support today for a proposed congressional investigation of the government's system of priorities. A resolution by Senator Francis Maloney [D., Conn.] for a congressional investigation of priorities is scheduled to be considered by the senate commerce committee Wednesday.

PREFERENCE PLAN.

Are priorities given only on defense work?

Answer: The priorities system is intended primarily to facilitate the purchases and production of goods needed by the service branches of the government. Priority aid may also be given in some cases to important civilian projects and contracts.

PRIORITIES PUBLISHED.

Is there any government publication that gives comprehensive information on the priorities system that will enable me to keep up to date on the subject?

Answer: Yes. The weekly publication, Defense, includes a record of all the important actions taken by defense agencies of the government. Subscriptions should be sent to the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C. The yearly subscription price is 75 cents for 52 copies.

(More questions and answers will be published tomorrow. Address inquiries to Small Business Man's Department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago.)

Autumn Nears.

THE beautiful and ornamental mountain ash tree seems to play the rôle of advance agent of autumn at this time of the year. Autumn brings bright flashy colors to the woods of the farm but already the ash trees have a pronounced fall appearance with their shining coral red berries. Altho the sumac always dazzles the outdoor fan with its brilliant foliage tints no tree can display more beautiful clusters of berries than the mountain ash. The fruit of this tree will be on display even thru the winter months. The berries now are in crowded colorful clusters almost five inches in diameter.

If you walk thru the farm woods you get the feeling that autumn can't be denied much longer when you see the leaves of the Virginia creeper. Already a rich red tint is appearing in the foliage of these plants. By the time frost comes many of the Virginia creeper leaves will be a brilliant crimson color.

Both the creeper with its five leaflets and the poison ivy [leaflets in groups of three] take on much color during the late summer and autumn months. One of the men on the farm found both of these plants when he was hiking thru a woodlot the other day. When he realized that he was standing right in the middle of a patch of poison ivy he wisely gave himself a first aid treatment to remove the oily sap of this plant, the stuff that causes painful skin irritation.

First Aid for Ivy.

He hurried back to the house, wiped off his shoes, took them off, and then washed his hands and feet thoroly with strong laundry soap. As a result he has experienced no bad effects from this contact with the ivy. The use of a strong laundry soap is recommended as the first step against the effects of poison ivy. Since oils are soluble in soapsuds [as well as in alcohol and various alkalis] and the poison in poison ivy is a peculiar oily substance [called "toxicodendiol"], a vigorous scrubbing with strong soap renders the skin poison free and thus is an important routine after exposure to this widely distributed pest of the woods.

The squirrels continue to remind us that as far as they are concerned it's early fall and their acorn harvest time. The acorns are ripe and falling from the trees and the squirrels are doing their part to keep the acorn bombardment going. When we walked beneath four big oaks the other day we noticed scores of acorns on the ground. Some of them were untouched, even to their rough caps. But others were in fragments, indicating that the busy fox and gray squirrels had been enjoying the food produced by the oaks. The burr oak [there are some old giants on the farm] takes the blue ribbon when it comes to an unusual type of acorn. Some of these are around 1½ inches in diameter across the hemispherical cup and each cap or cup has such frayed, ragged edges that they make us think of miniature birds' nests.

To every one who follows the seasons of the year by means of nature's outdoor signposts the condition of tree leaves, and their gradual changes in color, present one of the most distinctive of all evidences of autumn. Usually the small saplings of various species are the first to change from their green summer raiments to the brighter tints of autumn, and already a few of the small oak and maple saplings on the farm are showing tints of red and yellow.

The larger oak, maple, hickory, and elm trees are more deliberate about their autumn change, but nevertheless the first of these huge trees [especially the elms and horse chestnuts] are fading from their bright summer green to a more subdued tone.

PRESSED STEEL CAR.

Do you know whether Pressed Steel Car is planning to pay a dividend on its common this year?—R. H.

Answer: Pressed Steel Car Company, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa., cannot resume payments on its common stock until the accumulated unpaid dividends on the preferred stocks have been cleared. The last payment on the common was 25 cents a share on Oct. 20, 1937.

On July 1 this year, the arrears on the 5 per cent first preferred stock of $5 par value amounted to 12½ cents a share, and on the 5 per cent second preferred of $50 par value, $1.25 a share.

Earnings in the first half of this year fell sharply from the corresponding 1940 period. The trend does not suggest early resumption of common dividends. In the first half of 1941 net income was $398,203, equal to 53 cents a common share after preferred dividend requirements, against $974,414, or $1.57 a common share, in the 1940 period.

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX.

I see the treasury is proposing that pay roll taxes for social security be boosted. What are the present rates and how high are they scheduled to go? Has there been any change in the rates?—K. B.

Answer: The social security tax is levied on each employé's wages up to $3,000 a year, at the rate of 1 per cent paid by the employer and 1 per cent by the employé. This rate remains in effect thru 1942. It increases to 2 per cent by each from 1943 thru 1945, to 2½ per cent from 1946 thru 1948, and to 3 per cent thereafter.

This schedule of tax rate increases was provided under the amendment of the social security law in 1939. Under the original act of 1935, the rate would have been boosted to 1½ per cent from 1940 thru 1942. The amendment froze the 1 per cent rate until 1943 but otherwise left the schedule unchanged.

SCATTERED SYSTEMS.

What public utility holding company has the most far-flung operations and what state has the most utility systems represented within its boundaries?—P. J.

Answer: Associated Gas and Electric company system furnishes gas or electricity in 25 states. Standard Power and Light corporation system is second with 20 states.

Texas has 17 utility systems operating in the state and Ohio has 15.

PERMIT BRITISH CREWS ON SHIPS SEIZED BY U. S.

Hyde Park, N. Y. Aug. 24 (AP).—An executive order, which White House officials said today would have the effect of allowing British masters and crews to sail ships acquired by the maritime commission under the ship seizure act of last June, has been issued by President Roosevelt.

The order provides for the waiving of compliance with provisions of existing law relating to masters, officers, crew members, and crew accommodations. It was issued under an act of last June which authorized, primarily, the seizure of foreign vessels tied up in American ports.

To what extent Britain may be benefited by putting her own sailors on these ships was not immediately disclosed.

SMELTER EARNS MORE DESPITE BOUND IN TAXES

The American Smelting and Refining company, one of the world's largest nonferrous metal producers, yesterday reported increased profits for the six months ended June 30, despite the setting aside of almost 2½ times as much for taxes.

Profits for the first half of 1941 were $6,768,817, or $2.29 a share, compared with $6,405,919, or $2.12 a share, in the like 1940 period. The report showed net income before taxes was $13,807,556, against $9,264,646 in the 1940 half.

The reserve for income and corporate taxes, provided on the basis of the revenue bill now pending in congress, totaled $7,038,738, compared with $2,858,725 in the like 1940 period.

NEW PIPE LINE IS AUTHORIZED BY ROOSEVELT

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP).—President Roosevelt has authorized the Plantation Pipe Line company to construct a line from Baton Rouge, La., to Greensboro, N. C., for "national defense purposes," it was learned today. [Details of the project were announced previously.]

The temporary White House announced that the chief executive, using for the first time authority granted him by a pipe line act less than a month old, had issued a proclamation permitting the private corporation to exercise the right of eminent domain to acquire rights of way for the line.

275 COMPANIES' TAXES 51.6 PCT. OF THEIR EARNINGS

New York, Aug. 24 (AP).—Provision for federal taxes by 275 industrial companies during the first half of this year amounted to 51.6 per cent of their earnings compared with 26.7 per cent last year, the National Industrial Conference board reported today. The result was, the research organization said, that while earnings increased 82 per cent, taxes chopped the gain down to 20 per cent.

BRITAIN SEEKING 15,000 MILLIONS MORE IN U. S. AID

arrived in Washington to speed up American production. He has been showing American officials how he speeded up production at home. Also he has submitted estimates that not less than 15,000 millions of new lend-lease funds will be necessary to arm the British to resist Hitler in the next phase of the war.

President Weighs Problem.

The President has this estimate under advisement. He has indicated that a new lend-lease bill will be submitted to congress next month. The total is yet to be determined—not less than 4,000 nor more than 10,000 millions.

As a result of these colossal expenditures the national debt soon will be in the neighborhood of 100,000 millions. If we should go into a shooting war it will range much higher, probably the 300,000 millions the interventionists envisage. As the interest on only 100,000 millions would be 2,500 millions, there is widespread doubt that the country could carry so large a debt. The New Dealers have only a tolerant smile for those who think such a debt would be paid. Repudiation is what they expect—and then the socialistic state.

Total Outlay Compiled.

Including 14,500 millions of civil functional expenditures, the aggregate outlay for the first two years of the war is about 37,500 millions, entailing a debt at the end of this fiscal year of nearly 60,000 millions. The total outlay to date, as compiled by Lawrence Sullivan, economist, follows:

Dept.—	Fiscal year ended June 30, 1941.	Fiscal year end. ing June 30, '42.
Other national defense.	1,336,671,908	2,460,970,250
Total defense	$19,086,335,437	$26,840,068,153
Lend-lease fund		7,000,000,000
Civil functions	7,487,971,964	7,145,309,956
Total all federal	$26,574,307,401	$40,985,378,109
Grand total for two yrs.		$67,559,885,510

Recapitulation—

Cash expenditures for fiscal 1941	$12,710,000,000
Cash expenditures for fiscal 1942 to date	1,600,000,000
Civil functions balance fiscal 1942	6,500,000,000
*Defense contract commitments unpaid	23,684,585,982
*Defense authorizations still to be contracted	23,065,299,528
Total	$67,559,885,510
†Average annual federal expenditures seven years, 1927-'33	$ 4,057,000,000
Average annual deficit seven years, 1927-'33	657,000,000
†Average annual federal expenditures seven years, 1934-'40	7,843,000,000
Average annual deficit seven years, 1934-'40	3,457,000,000
Annual deficit for fiscal year ended June 30, 1944	5,103,000,000
National debt July 1, 1941 [$371.21 per capita]	48,961,487,962
Budgeted deficit fiscal 1942	10,900,000,000
Estimated debt as of July 1, 1942 [$454.25 per capita]	59,861,487,962

*These items include, among them, $8,095,173,256 in appropriations and authorizations for the fiscal year 1942 still in various phases of the legislative process, plus $7,297,000,000 needed after 1942 to complete the two ocean navy and other long term defense projects as now authorized.

†Does not include annual average of $670,000,000 postal expenditures paid directly from postal receipts.

Deplores Colossal Waste.

Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee, deplored the colossal waste of the administration budget.

"Expenditures for military purposes," he said, "are now running at the rate of nearly one and a half billion a month. I expect that figure to reach two billion a month by Jan. 1, two and one-half billion by April 1, and three billion by June 30, 1942.

"Even allowing for the reduction which will be occasioned by the tax money which will come in, the expenditures for the fiscal year 1942 will, in my opinion, run between 27 and 30 billion dollars, and the deficit will be from 15 to 17 billion dollars.

"The national debt on June 31, 1941, was $48,961,443,535.71, in addition to approximately $6,500,000,000 of guaranteed government obligations, or a total of approximately $55,461,443,53*.71.

"By June 30, 1942, it will be in the neighborhood of 65 billion dollars direct and 8 billion dollars indirect, without any further changes in legislation.

"The debt limit has been raised to 65 billion dollars, which will be reached by the end of the fiscal year."
